LOOT OF A JEWELRY STORE.

Eighteen Trays Filled With Gems Stolen.

PROPRIETOR WAS AWAY EATING HIS LUNCHEON.

JACOB SMITH THE VICTIM OF A MOST DARING DAYLIGHT ROBBERY.

PLUNDER VALUED AT NEARLY $3000.

Store Located at 1545 South Broadway Entered From the Rear and the Jewelry Taken From Show Cases.

During the lunch hour of Tuesday, between 12 and 12:30 o'clock, burglars broke open the jewelry store of Jacob Smith, 1545 South Broadway, and completely looted the place, carrying away diamonds, watches and jewelry valued at $3000.

It was one of the most daring and successful robberies ever perpetrated in St. Louis.

Jacob Smith's jewelry store is located in the heart of the South Side trade, and, being directly upon Broadway, is in constant view of an endless throng of pedestrians.

Mr. Smith owns the building and sleeps in a small rear room. He has no clerk just now, and was endeavoring to keep up his business by attending to all of it himself, and managed by taking a hurried lunch at noon.

Tuesday noon Mr. Smith carefully locked his doors and went to lunch. He was gone but 25 or 30 minutes.

When he returned and unlocked his front door he was horrified to find his showcases had been absolutely despoiled of everything.

The rear door stood wide open, and showed how the robbers had entered and escaped. The back door had been pried open with a jimmy.

Mr. Smith says there were 18 trays of jewelry in the showcases, containing all kinds of valuable goods.

Six or seven of the trays held watches, two of them contained diamonds, while the remainder were filled with earrings and pins of the usual assortment. All were taken.

Mr. Smith says he has no idea who could have done the robbery, and the detectives have begun work on the case without the slightest clew to the perpetrators.

CLERK CHARGED WITH THEFT.

He Is Said to Have Stolen $7500 Worth of Jewelry in a Package.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Robert Dyas, a clerk for Evarts, Choate & Beaman, lawyers, was arrested to-day, accused of stealing a package containing $7500 worth of jewelry and a letter of credit for $36,000. The package belonged to Treadwell Cleveland, a member of the firm.

NEW YORK BANK FAILURE.

Delaware National of Delhi Is the Suspended Institution.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The Comptroller of the Currency has received a telegram announcing the failure of the Delaware National Bank of Delhi, N. Y. In its last report the bank had individual deposits amounting to $298,979 and a surplus of $17,746. The capital of the bank was $100,000. The failure is said to be due to excessive loans.

"JUDGE" A LOSING VENTURE.

Publishers Go Into Voluntary Liquidation, but Expect to Recover.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The board of directors of the Arkel Publishing Co. and of the Judge Publishing Co. of New York have decided to go into voluntary liquidation and have applied for temporary receivers. The proceedings will not interfere with the regular issue of the Arkel publications, and there is said to be no doubt that existing complications will be speedily adjusted.

FAINTED AT VACCINATION.

Twenty of the 5th Missourians Collapsed.

RECOVERED QUICKLY FROM THE ORDEAL.

SURGEON HARRELSON ATTRIBUTES INCIDENT TO HEAT AND INDIGESTION.

IMPROPER FOOD TO BLAME FOR IT.

Wholesome Effect on the Commissary, and There Will Be No More Vaccinations After Cool Hours of Each Morning.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, Ga., June 7.—Surgeon-Major Harrelson began vaccinating the 5th Missouri this morning, after a startling interruption last evening. Twenty men, including two lieutenants, fainted under the ordeal and the Major issued an order that no more work be done after the cool of the morning.

Various theories are advanced concerning the sudden prostrations, no other Missouri regiment having such a record. After applying the virus the men stood about in the hot sun, drying their arms. A strong private was the first to fall. Then the ambulance calls came rapidly until the work ceased.

All were revived quickly and are suffering no ill effects to-day. Major Harrelson will try a new method, popular in Southern climes. The virus will be injected into the arm by a syringe. Physicians say it was the combination of heat and bad stomachs that caused the collapses.

The existence of the latter revives the old "improper food" cry and will have a wholesome effect on the commissary.

The ten days' field rations issued at the barracks are just out in the 4th and Col. Moore expects regular army diet to-morrow. The men have been drilled hard and the impaired digestions rebelled against this additional tax. Bacon, coffee and bread is growing tiresome. There has been a sufficient quantity of this, but it is the "sameness" that is causing the sickness. Contributions from home have in a measure relieved this, but there are some who are so unfortunate as to have no home.

In the 5th the St. Louis boys have been well cared for by Gen. Noble and others in the Grand Army. Tobacco, canned goods, meat and vegetables have been sent from time to time and it is lucky that the boys have had a semblance of variety.

Capt. Wrenn of the Sons of Veterans Co. has been notified that a quantity of smoked sausage and meat will leave St. Louis for his company to-day.

Lieutenant-Colonel Demuth of the 2d Missouri has taken the company messes of his regiment under his personal supervision. He said this morning that the daily food supply was sufficient; indeed, it was more than the men could eat. They are on two-third rations, but there is no discernable disposition on the part of the Government to bring this up to full rations, in which event a part could be turned back by the regiment. credit given the commissary department and delicacies purchased. Why the Government holds out is not explained. The officer in charge says he is doing all in his power. The list is still crying for fresh meat. Otherwise the rations are at least filling. Promise has been given that beef will be issued this week.

Every Missouri Colonel at Chickamauga is to-day commanding a brigade. Col. Moore was summoned to headquarters this morning and will remain in command until outranked or succeeded by a brigadier. The vacancy will be filled in a few days. In the absence of Col. Dougherty of the 9th Pennsylvania, Col. Caffee is commanding his brigade. Capt. Rockwell, chief of the Ordnance Department, said to-day that the equipments of Missouri troops will be pushed rapidly.

The announcement was made in camp this morning that the payment of troops would begin July 1. This was received with great joy in Missouri's penniless ranks. Greater was the delight when it was known that the men would be paid from the date of enlistment, which, in our case, is June 4. The different State paymasters are all over camp paying their men. Two hundred thousand dollars were distributed among New York regiments to-day.

The officers of the 1st have prepared a memorial on the death of Capt. Kreidler.

Capt. C. B. Allen of K Company has been appointed Judge Advocate of the 1st.

INSURGENTS CLOSING IN ON MANILA.

Aguinaldo, the Insurgent General, Has 6500 Armed Troops and Has Been Winning Notable Victories Since May 25.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

Copyright by the Press Publishing Company, 1898.

HONG KONG, June 7.—The insurgents, aided by the Americans, are giving the Spanish troops fierce battle.

The latest was on June 2, when the rebels captured 600 Spaniards, killed twenty and wounded sixty. No rebels were killed or wounded. The fighting was still going on.

The Americans were aiding the insurgents with boats and machine guns.

The British residents remained in Manila, but most of the foreign residents had taken refuge among the shipping in the harbor. Gen. Aguinaldo, in numerous skirmishes with the Spanish troops, has gained signal victories. He has captured nearly 700 troops.

Through desertions of the native troops Spanish forces have been weakened fully 1500.

The first skirmish of any moment took place May 25. Two hundred rebels captured 124 Spanish, including 12 officers, and killed 17. The rebel loss was four killed.

In an engagement two miles south of Cavite, the same night, a small force of rebels in Bulucan Province killed twelve Spanish and captured twenty. One rebel was killed and one wounded.

The Spaniards, in revenge, burned the native town of Falissa, murdering women and children.

The rebels began a movement toward Manila June 1 and built intrenchments behind Bakor, on the Manila road, mounting two cannons.

The Spaniards attempted to drive the rebels out.

Early on Wednesday there was a pitched battle lasting four hours. The insurgents captured 200 Spaniards, including seven officers and one lieutenant-colonel.

There were eight rebels killed. The Spanish loss is unknown, but it is estimated that fifty were killed and 100 wounded.

Gen. Aguinaldo's forces are constantly growing. He now has 6500 armed.

Another steamer load of arms and ammunition is expected within a week.

Gen. Aguinaldo says he can capture Manila unaided when more arms are received.

A great uprising of the natives invariably follows Aguinaldo's proclamations, in which he orders the rebels to respect the lives and property of all foreigners and also the Spaniards, except those who have aided in fighting the insurgents.

The penalty of violations of these orders is death.

The General announces a dictatorial form of government, to last until pending questions are settled. He will then convene a congress, frame a republican constitution and elect a President.

FIERCE FIGHTING IN PHILIPPINES.

Insurgents Have Seventy Hours of Hand-to-Hand Conflict in the Suburbs and Have Won, but Dewey Now Holds Them Back.

Copyright, 1898, by the Associated Press.

MANILA, May 31, via Hong Kong, June 6.—The Spanish outposts have been driven in all along the line simultaneously and with great slaughter. It is said over 1000 have been killed. There has been fierce hand-to-hand fighting for 70 hours and during a typhoon.

The violent winds and the torrents of rain rendered the Spaniards' rifles unavailable. The natives easily won at every step with their slashing knives. To-day the insurgents hold Malabon, Tarlac and Bacoor. They are now attacking Santa Mesa and Molate, the suburbs of the city, which is completely encircled for a distance of seven miles.

A native regiment under Col. Aguinaldo, cousin of the insurgent leader, yesterday joined the insurgents.

The Governor has issued a despairing proclamation begging the insurgents to come to terms, and meanwhile he is arranging to remove all the Spanish population inside the old walled city. He is filling the moats, testing the drawing bridges and placing strong guards in the principal streets and artillery along the walls. The weather is terrific.

I visited Cavite without the Spaniards knowing it, and found there 197 wounded and 56 prisoners. Among the latter six Spanish officers, the others natives. All were well treated.

Chief Aguinaldo in the course of an interview has said that the insurgents are eager to rush upon Manila forthwith, but that Admiral Dewey refuses to "allow hordes of passionate semi-savages to storm a civilized metropolis."

Admiral Dewey intends to await the arrival of the American troops. In the meantime the insurgents have been forbidden to cross the Malote River, seven miles south of Manila; otherwise the Petrel will be stationed there to bombard them.

The volunteers smelt powder yesterday. An officer was killed and three others wounded. The rest retired rapidly. One German resident has enlisted with the volunteers.

SPANISH REPORT OF BOMBARDMENT.

MADRID, June 7.—The following official dispatch has been received here from Havana:

"Col. Aldea, commanding a Spanish column, has had some sharp fighting with a body of rebels who are supporting the landing of American forces near Santiago. Two American warships protected the landing party. The result of the operations is not known.

"It is supposed that the renewal of the bombardment of Santiago, lasting from 8 to 11 o'clock on Monday morning, was intended to distract the attention of the Spaniards and enable the landing to be effected."

ALL POLITICAL DISABILITIES REMOVED.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The bill for the removal of all political disabilities arising from the Civil War is now a law, President McKinley having formally approved it. Representative Jenkins of Wisconsin is its author. The law declares that the "disabilities imposed by section 3, fourteenth amendment of the Constitution, heretofore incurred, are hereby removed."

One 13-inch Shell From the Oregon Played Havoc on the Reina Mercedes.

RUMOR THAT ONE OF THE SPANISH CRUISERS WAS SUNK.

The Spaniards Admit That a Number of Officers and Soldiers and Sailors Were Killed.

PORT AU PRINCE, June 7.—No news of fighting or renewal of the bombardment of Santiago to-day has been received here. From reports of yesterday's operations it is believed that the American fleet has driven the Spaniards from some of the harbor entrance defenses, and it is possible that some of them are now in possession of United States marines. A dispatch boat from the fleet is expected here to-day.

RUINED FORTS; DISMANTLED GUNS.

NEW YORK, June 7.—A special from Cape Haytien, describing the bombardment of Santiago de Cuba on Monday, says that the forts about the harbor are now a mass of ruins. The Morro is a shapeless pile of ruined masonry and dismantled guns, and the Estrella battery is utterly ruined. This result, the dispatch says, was the work of 10 American ironclads, which passed back and forth from Port Cabrera on the west to Port Aguadores, on the east of the harbor entrance, discharging their heavy guns as they steamed along, so that scarcely a yard of the coast escaped the deadly cannonading. At Port Aguadores, the fort recently constructed by Col. Ordonez, the famous artillery expert, was blown to dust and Col. Ordonez himself was badly wounded by the flying splinters and debris. Capt. Sanchez and Lieut. Yrizar, artillery officers, were also wounded. Later in the day the American ships moved closer to the mouth of the harbor, where the old cruiser Reina Mercedes had been discerned attempting to place explosives about the hull of the Merrimac to blow her to pieces and clear the channel.

ONE SHELL FROM THE BATTLESHIP OREGON.

A 13-inch shell from the Oregon landed squarely abaft her pilot house and tore all her upper works to shreds.

One officer, five of her sailors and a marine were killed. A second lieutenant of the Reina Mercedes and 16 of her seamen were very seriously wounded.

A perfect shower of shell and shot fell upon and around the old cruiser, and she was so badly damaged that her crew, by order of Admiral Cervera, abandoned the ship for the shore for safety.

About noon, according to the Cape Haytien dispatch, a landing party of American marines near Daquiri was attacked by Spanish infantry and a squad of cavalry. The insurgents were posted in the neighborhood, and with the aid of the marines successfully took up a position, holding it, and later making it a base from which they proceeded. The Spanish force was defeated with heavy loss and driven back toward Santiago, leaving their wounded behind them.

The Americans are now entrenched near Daquiri and are landing heavy guns preparatory to moving them toward Santiago and laying siege to the city. There is a panic in Santiago. The residents who can are fleeing to the country, joining the insurgents or doing anything to get away from the certain destruction that now awaits Cervera's fleet and the forces of Pando and Linares.

THREE HOURS OF CONTINUOUS FIRING.

(Copyright, 1898, by the Associated Press.)

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, June 7.—The fighting before and in the vicinity of Santiago de Cuba continued the greater part of yesterday, from 7:45 a. m. until nearly 11 o'clock. Ten of the American warships maintained a steady and carefully directed fire against El Morro Castle and the batteries at Punta Gorda and Socapa, in addition to bombarding the Spanish fleet in the harbor. The percentage of effective projectiles was very large.

It appears from the best information obtainable at this place, the cable station connecting with Santiago de Cuba, that immense damage was inflicted on the enemy. The Spaniards admit that the bombardment from the American fleet was most destructive. About 1600 projectiles are said to have been fired by the American warships, and it seems that the responsive fire from the Spanish forts and ships was scarcely felt at all by the Americans.

The fortifications near the entrance of the harbor are described as being riddled with solid shot and shattered by the explosion of the immense shells fired by the American battleships. The Spanish batteries are understood to have been virtually silenced and El Morro and the fortifications at Socapa and Punta Gorda are reported to have been demolished by the three hours' uninterrupted hammering of the American fleet.

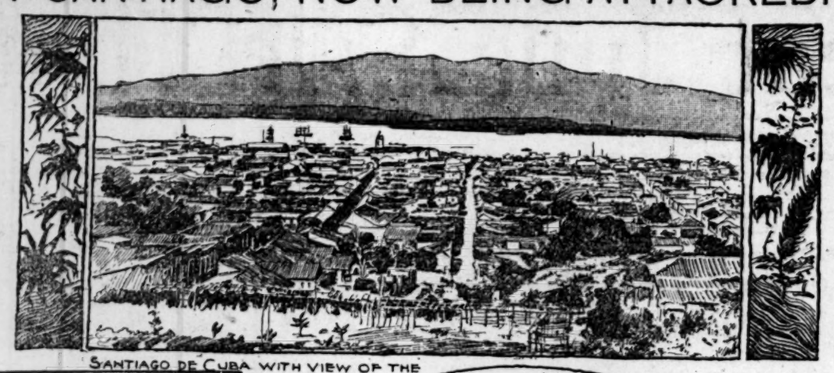

The American attack is next said to have been specially directed against Aguadores, a small coast town a little to the east of the entrance of Santiago Bay. The idea of the American Admiral, it appears, was to land troops and siege guns there, after reducing the defenses of the place, and thence make a close assault upon Santiago, which, in view of the present condition of its fortifications, may be expected to yield very soon after the beginning of such an attack.

Heavy cannonading was opened up on Aguadores at about midday yesterday.

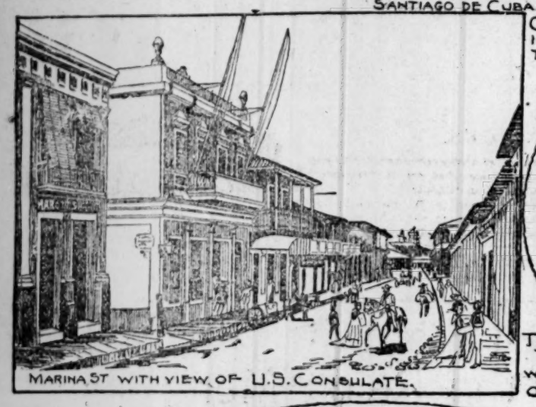

The latest advices received here from Spanish sources do not indicate the duration of the fire or whether American troops and siege guns were actually landed at Aguadores, but from the infor mation obtainable it cannot be doubted that the net result of Monday's fighting was extremely disastrous to the Spanish defenses.

SCENES IN SANTIAGO, NOW BEING ATTACKED.

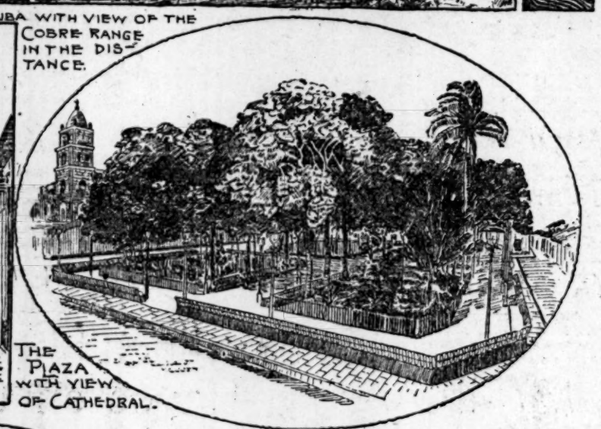

With Sampson's fleet battering at the forts of El Morro, La Socapa and Punta Gorda, and destroying Cervera's fleet, aided by the army of invasion under Gen. Shafter, who will be joined by the insurgents, Santiago, capital of the most easterly province of Cuba, will probably soon be occupied by the United States troops and the first active step toward driving Spain from Cuba be accomplished.

It is also understood here that the Cuban troops maintained throughout the greater part of yesterday an attack by land upon Santiago and the Spanish reports say the garrison lost heavily in killed and wounded.

The military commander of Santiago de Cuba acknowledges the following casualties among the land forces: Col. Orlonez, Capt. Sanchez, Lieut. Yrizar of the artillery, and Perez and Garcia, both Spanish officers, whose ranks are not mentioned.

These officers were killed. The Spaniards also admit the loss of 21 infantry soldiers, severely wounded, and say one soldier was killed.

But it is believed the losses of the Spaniards were much more heavy.

In the naval force the Spaniards say that the officer who was second in command of the partly dismantled Spanish cruiser, Reina Mercedes, and five sailors and an ensign were killed. The Spanish sailors wounded, it is asserted, number 16 men.

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, June 7.—It is reported here that the first-class armored Spanish cruiser Maria Teresa was sunk yesterday by the fire of the American fleet.

It is further reported that the Cuban forces yesterday attacked Santiago de Cuba by land, during the American bombardment, inflicting heavy losses on the garrison.

AMERICAN TROOPS SAID TO HAVE LANDED.

CAPE HAYTIEN, Hayti, June 7.—A landing of American troops is reported to have taken place yesterday near Daquiri, some distance east of Aguadores and near the railroad connection with Santiago. Later there was fighting with a Spanish force on land, in which the Americans were victorious.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—Reports of the arrival of the expedition to Santiago are premature. The transports which will convey the great body of the troops to be sent are not yet away from the United States. Gen. Shafter was at Tampa last night. The Mobile transports are at Tampa.

The voyage to Santiago will require four days from Key West at a uniform rate of ten knots an hour. The reports circulated that a portion of the expedition has landed are evidently untrue.

A detachment of 4000 to 5000 men would probably be cut to pieces by the powerful Spanish force about Santiago. No portion of the expedition will be landed except in the presence of the commanding general.

Gen. Shafter is expected to land at Santiago with at least 15,000 troops. His orders are to gain the hillsides about Santiago, where the siege guns can be mounted so as to harass the city. Cervera's fleet will also be a principal target for the field pieces. The cavalry and infantry will engage the Spanish troops about the city, and, according to the present plans, there will be no dilatory tactics.

It will be the end of the present week at the earliest before news of a battle will be received. The importance of the campaign is fully appreciated. A disaster means a prolongation of the war. The landing of an army in the face of an enemy of equal numbers is no trifling undertaking at best.

APPEALS COURT SCOLDED.

Supreme Court Gives the St. Louis Judges a Quiet Reprimand.

A special to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday from Jefferson City says that in the case of the Seaboard National Bank of New York vs. Frederick Woesten and others the Supreme Court en banc has ordered the cause remanded to the St. Louis Court of Appeals for want of jurisdiction to hear and determine the same.

The Judge of the St. Louis Court of Appeals, who prepared the opinion of that court and filed it with the Supreme Court, after referring to the opinion of the latter court in the case of the Barber Asphalt Co. vs. Ulman, 137 Missouri, 543, says:

In view of that holding we are in doubt whether the opinion filed by us in the case at bar is in harmony with the last controlling decision of the Supreme Court, since we do not see our way clearly to a reconciliation of the views entertained by a majority of the Supreme Court in the Verdin case with the views expressed by a majority of that court in the Ulman case. Under these circumstances we feel it our constitutional duty by certifying the case to the Supreme court.

The Supreme Court holds that the lower courts must not express doubt in any opinion, but must fully determine a case. In the opinion it says:

This court and the St. Louis Court of Appeals derive their jurisdiction to hear and determine causes from the constitution of Missouri and the amendments thereto. Neither may trench upon the authority conferred upon the other. While this court may, by means of certain writs, superintend all other courts in the State, to insure their obedience to the constitution, no authority is given to it to hear and determine in the first instance appeals in cases in which the constitution requires the St. Louis Court of Appeals to hear and determine, and should we do so we would be guilty of usurping powers not delegated to us.

Chief Justice Gantt wrote the opinion, in which Burgess, Robinson, Brace and Williams concur, and Sherwood and Marshall dissent.

GOOD FRIENDS AS EVER.

Happy Mr. Burns Refuses to Prosecute His Tormentor.

"I guess I was a little excited Wednesday night," said Chas. R. Burns, Tuesday morning, "and I don't wish to prosecute Klackzan."

Fritz Klackzan of 2353 Michigan avenue, with anumber of other men, went to Burns' home, at 3118 Magnolia avenue, Wednesday night. Burns had married Miss Bertha J. Kalb of 2836 Ohio avenue that evening. Klackzan and his friends were armed with tin pans and horns, and during the ceremony they made such a noise that Burns came out and ordered a policeman to arrest them.

All of the charivariers ran but Klackzan. He wanted to decide the matter by arbitration, saying Burns was his friend and he was going to celebrate the occasion of Burns' marriage. Klackzan's intentions were cut short when the patrol wagon arrived.

Burns was penitent in Judge Zimmerman's Police Court, Tuesday morning, and said that probably he was a little excited, as it was his first time at getting married. Klackzan was discharged. They are just as friendly as ever.

MISSOURI DRESSED GRANITE.

Board of Public Improvements States a Point About Curbings.

A committee of stonemasons appeared before the Board of Public Improvements Tuesday and wanted to know what the board was going to do about the resolution pending in the Council in favor of compelling the use exclusively of Missouri granite for curbing.

They were assured that the board would not go to that extreme, but would probably insist upon all the granite being dressed in Missouri.

AN ELECTION IN QUESTION.

Woman's Humane Society Before the Court.

FORCEFUL LANGUAGE OF DR. COMSTOCK.

SUIT OF THE CALKINS FACTION AGAINST THE COMSTOCKIANS.

MRS. CALKINS TELLS OF THE BALLOTING.

A Contest for Offices Which at One Time Threatened to Disrupt the Society and Break Up Its Meetings in Riot.

The trial of the Women's Humane Society election contest was started at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, before Judge Withrow, without the assistance of a jury.

The case is formidable, to judge from the papers. The plaintiffs are: Mrs. William Ladd, Mrs. William Heil, Mrs. S. J. Marks, Mrs. J. Pim, Mrs. Mamie Warren and Mrs. Mary W. Calkins.

The defendants are Mrs. Rillie Comstock, Mrs. T. J. Connor, Mrs. Julius A. Benstein, Mrs. M. Klemm, Mrs. M. L. Osgood, Mrs. G. W. Butterfield, Mrs. Delima Roberts, Mrs. Mary S. Reed, and Mrs. E. R. Clark.

The plaintiffs claim that Mrs. Comstock and her followers had packed the meeting and wrongfully elected Mrs. Comstock and her following as directors. The plaintiffs' bill of complaint goes clear back into the early part of 1897, when certain members, claiming to be active members in good standing, asked to be allowed to look at the books and make an inspection of them and were repeatedly and emphatically refused.

Then they say Mrs. Comstock assumed a right which she properly had not and sent out notices that in the future the regular weekly meetings would be abandoned for the time being.

Then came the time for the annual election and the fight grew still warmer. Instead of holding the meeting at the Lindell Hotel, as was usual, the contestors say Mrs. Comstock sent out notices that the meeting would be held at the house of Mrs. Comstock at 10 o'clock, Jan. 7, 1898.

Then for the purpose of stealing a march on the anti-Comstock faction, the plaintiffs say Mrs. Comstock called the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, an hour and a half before the regular time. Then they sent out into the highways and byways and brought in ladies who were not members and had them vote for the Comstock faction, resulting in the unfair election of Mesdames Comstock, Osgood, Klemm, Butterfield, Reed, Roberts and Clark as directors.

These directors, so elected at the packed meeting, in turn elected Mrs. Comstock president; Mrs. Klemm, vice-president; Mrs. Benstein, secretary, and Mrs. Connor, treasurer.

Incidentally Dr. Comstock is charged with bulldozing and brow beating the anti-Comstock faction so that they could do nothing.

Mrs. Mary Calkins was the first witness put upon the stand. She testified to going to the meeting at Mrs. Comstock's house and protesting against a large number of ladies voting at the election.

There were about 95 ladies on the list, to whom Mrs. Calkins said she objected as not entitled to vote at the election.

Mrs. Calkins said her protests were utterly disregarded and that Mrs. Comstock, who was presiding, ordered that the election go on, over the challenges of Mrs. Calkins.

The lawyers had a little tilt over the testimony of Mrs. Calkins and how much of it should be admitted.

"Was any attention paid to your challenges?" she was asked.

"Yes; Dr. Comstock told me to sit down."

"Then what did you do?"

"I asked for the reading of the minutes and for the Secretary's report of the last year. I insisted and Dr. Comstock came over to me and said: 'Mrs. Calkins, you are considered a very smart woman, but I think you are a d—— fool.' Then he grabbed me by the arm and tried to force me to sit down."

Mrs. Calkins then went on to tell of several other profane terms used by Dr. Comstock toward "our side," as Mrs. Calkins expressed it. Mrs. Calkins further testified that when they asked for tellers, Mrs. Comstock refused to let them be appointed.

"Did all the ladies you challenged vote?"

"Some of them did, because I saw them cast their ballots, and Dr. Comstock walked up to Mrs. Comstock and said: 'Here is Mrs. Otto Forster's vote.'"

"Was Mrs. Forster there?"

"I don't know; but she did not cast her ballot. Dr. Comstock cast it for her."

Mrs. Calkins testified that the meeting was disorderly and noisy and that she had made a motion to have all but active members in good standing removed from the meeting room, but without avail.

Then Mrs. Calkins was turned over to Attorney John A. Gilliam for cross-examination.

Mrs. William Hiel was the second witness called for the plaintiffs. She testified that when Mrs. Comstock called the meeting to order she exclaimed, with others, that it was not yet 10 o'clock, but it availed nothing.

She said Dr. Comstock ran the whole meeting. He was hot and excited and was "all over the place at once, bossing things and ordering the ladies about."

"Did he swear at the ladies?"

"Oh yes, several times."

"What did he say?"

"Once he got up and shouted: 'O, d—— it, shut up!'"

"What effect did that have?"

"It stopped them for a minute and then the row began again."

"All talking at once?" queried the Court.

"No, they had more ladies there than we did, and our side was cowed and intimidated."

"Did Dr. Comstock lay hands on any of the ladies?"

"Yes, I saw him grab Mrs. Calkins and turn her around and order her out of the room."

"Well, what happened after that?"

"Mrs. Comstock said that some of the ladies had sickness at home and some wanted to get away, so the election would be held without the usual preliminaries. As soon as she said this the Comstock side drew out from under their wraps printed ballots they had been furnished with in advance. We didn't have any ballots, and I asked for time to write some, but the collectors went right ahead and took up the ballots, not waiting for our ballots to be written."

Mrs. Heil testified that the entire proceeding was disorderly and that the Comstock faction was highly excited.

STRONGLY ON CANTY'S SIDE.

New Witnesses Brought Forward in the Notable Murder Trial.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—The attorneys for Dennis J. Canty this morning put before the jury some raking evidence. A colored boy named Fry, a bootblack, stated that he knew both Rye and Canty. The morning before the fatal meeting he overheard an altercation between the two.

Rye, he said, "fussed" with Canty and called him every vile name he could, and it was brought out that Rye asserted that Canty was a coward. Rye had a knife, the boy said. The witness stated that he saw Rye the following day, Tuesday, when the shooting occurred.

Rye passed Canty's office three times that morning and was evidently looking for something differing from a patent leather polish. The boy saw Rye pass Canty's office about 10 minutes before the shooting.

The defense also brought out testimony tending to corroborate the statement of the "deaf witness," Keating. Keating took dinner with the Caton family, and each and all who sat at the table that night testified to-day that Keating had told them the same story he told on the stand, which was to the effect that the morning of the shooting he had seen a small man on the street armed with a formidable looking knife, and that later he saw the same man borne into a drug store, wounded, and identified him.

Testimony to-day would seem to indicate that Canty's fate will scarcely be decided this week.

LIGHT MEN IN SESSION.

Notable Electricians From All Over the Country Exchange Views.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The twenty-first convention of the National Electric Light Association began a three days' session at the Auditorium to-day. After a meeting of the executive committee, president Samuel Insull of the Chicago Edison Co., delivered his annual address.

Calvin W. Rice of Brooklyn read a paper on "Cost of Generation and Distribution of a Unit of Electricity," following this paper there was a general discussion on prices and discounts for electric current and methods of billing current to customers.

Among the notable visitors to the convention is Prof. Fujicka, the principal authority on electric lighting in Japan.

WELLS HELD TO BLAME.

Must Stand Trial for the Murder of "Three-Fingered Jack" Shields.

Fred Wells, who shot and killed John Shields, alias "Three-Fingered Jack," at Second and Valentine streets Sunday night, was held by a Coroner's jury Tuesday.

The courtroom was packed to suffocation with the dead man's friends. "Three-Fingered Jack" was a popular hanger-on around the Levee district. Wells is proprietor of a restaurant at 518 South Second street.

The evidence submitted Tuesday showed that Shields entered the lunch place and engaged in an argument with several friends. Wells, it was claimed, interrupted the conversation and words followed. Then, it is alleged, Wells fired at Shields.

CONTRACTORS BID TOO LOW.

Mr. Milner's Own Force Will Lay the Rinkelville Sewer.

Street Commissioner Milner made such a dismal failure of his first call for bids for laying the Rinkleville sanitary sewer that he will not try it again.

Several of the contractors, it seems, labored under a misunderstanding. They thought they were expected to bid low. They did so. Mr. Milner said they were so low that they wouldn't do at all.

Mr. Milner announced Tuesday that he would have the work done by his own force of laborers. The 26 foot cut will be avoided, a right of way having been obtained around the elevation. It is not stated whether the Street Department employes will be held to the 30 day limit.

BOTH ON ONE TRACK.

Driver Bombarded the Street Car and Was Fined.

George Neidel drove a wagon on Gano avenue, Monday afternoon, in the Scullin tracks. Richard Ryan of 2739 Ann avenue came down the track on his car. He rang the gong until his ear drums almost burst. Neidel did not move. Uncomplimentary words were exchanged. Ryan and the street car were bombarded with stones. Neidel was arrested. Judge Zimmerman thought Ryan's peace had been disturbed to the extent of $20

She Will Be Missed by the Poor.

Mrs. Mary Philomena Zanone, nee Devoto, who died suddenly at her home, 3901 Olive street, was well known as a philanthropist. She was secretary of the Italian Ladies' Aid Association, and was noted as the lady who gave the first charity ball in St. Louis. She was a member of the Queen's Daughters and Provident Association. Two children survive her, boys, aged 9 and 16 years. She was beloved by the Italians of the city and will be sadly missed by the poor of that nationality.

Disfigured For Life

Thought There Was No Cure. Tried Cuticura. In Few Days Better. In Short Time Cured.

Our little girl's humor commenced with a tiny sore on one nostril, but it kept on spreading till we thought she would never get it cured. For several weeks we tried everything we could get for the blood, both externally and internally, but it kept getting larger all the time, till both nostrils, the upper lip, a part of the lower lip, and up one side to the eye, were a solid sore. We thought there was no cure, and that she would be disfigured for life. Finally (as a last resort) we tried CUTICURA REMEDIES. We used a part of a bottle of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT and nearly a box of CUTICURA (ointment), and followed the directions minutely. After a few days it began to look better, and in a short time she was entirely well, with no scar or trace of the humor. I send you this testimonial, and you may use any part of it that you wish.

Mrs. WM. CHICHESTER,
Feb. 5, 1898. Plainville, Conn.

IN A DREAM HE SAW HIS FUNERAL.

John C. W. Ohme Awakened From Sleep, Told His Wife He Would Die, and Eight Hours Later Passed Away.

REMARKABLE DREAM OF JOHN C. W. OHME.

John C. W. Ohme, who for a number of years kept a small cigar store at 2323 Chouteau avenue, died Sunday night under peculiar circumstances.

Ohme was 71 years old. He lived at the store, with his wife and four children, and for some time had been in poor health. Saturday night he was taken sick. Mrs. Ohme tells this remarkable story of his death:

"We did not think he was very ill, but I sat up with him through the night. He rested poorly. When morning came I gave him a glass of milk.

"Then he went off to sleep and in a short while he awoke and stared at me with an expression of awe and anxiety on his face. I did not ask him what worried him, as I thought it best to be still. He rolled over and said: 'Get the pen and ink and write to some of my old friends to come to my funeral.' I was startled, but I made no reply to his order. Then he said: 'Also notify the undertaker to arrange for the funeral and get everything in readiness.' Then I tried to dissuade him from his belief that he was going to die, but he said he was sure of it. 'I have just had a dream,' he said, 'in which I saw my own funeral procession moving along the street. Carriages were following closely and carrying weeping people. I saw my own friends in the carriages and my own casket in the hearse. This must be true.'

"All efforts on my part to make him abandon his idea were futile. I did not write the letters for him. He soon began to toss and roll and I sent for a doctor. A narcotic was given him and he went to sleep. That night, as he had predicted, he breathed his last."

Ohme was born in Germany in 1826, and came to St. Louis in 1853. He was a member of the Order of Druids and of St. Louis Lodge, No. 13, Knights of Honor.

The funeral will take place Tuesday afternoon from the family home, 2323 Chouteau avenue, to the New Pickett Cemetery.

MILES AND MERRITT COMPLAIN OF DELAY.

The General Going to Cuba Cannot Get Supplies and Many More Transports for the Philippine Expedition Are Needed.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Gen. Miles has sent several accentuated complaints from Tampa. The General states that the railway service is chaotic and congested. Loaded freight trains fill the sidings as far as Lakeland, 40 miles from Tampa. There is difficulty in ascertaining contents of cars. Quartermasters' stores, much needed, are far in the rear and cannot be reached to load on transports. The lack of system is frightful. This created surprise, as previous reports from Gen. Miles were that the preparations were progressing as well as could be expected.

Gen. Miles did not indicate whether the delay was confined to the embarkation of troops for Santiago. It is believed some of the troops now being rushed aboard transports are for the Porto Rico expedition, as Gen. Miles has been instructed to prepare an expedition for that island at once.

The authorities here realize that Porto Rico must be seized with the downfall of Santiago. A lodgment in the island is deemed of greatest importance, even more so than the capture of Santiago. The President desires to effect a complete settlement before another Spanish fleet can arrive.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 7.—The Call prints an interview with Gen. Wesley Merritt, in which, after praising the troops here, he says:

"My only complaint now is the delay in the furnishing of transports. I have represented to the War Department that the transports are coming in very slowly. After I make the shipment of troops contemplated by the three vessels—the China, Colon and Zalindia—I will have forwarded to the Philippines but one-fourth of the command.

"The want of transports is the crying want of the expedition. Twenty thousand men are to be sent to Manila. The three vessels which I have mentioned will carry only about 3500. There are now on the way across the Pacific 2500 troops, so you can easily see the situation. I do not wish to be understood as making any complaint or any criticism of the War Department. I am merely making a statement of facts in reply to your inquiries."

HURRYING THE WAR REVENUE BILL.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—After sitting until after midnight last night the conferees of the two Houses of Congress on the war revenue bill resumed their sitting promptly at 10 o'clock to-day. The impression is growing that the committee is determined to conclude its work promptly and that the report will be presented before the close of the present week.

When the conference adjourned at noon Senator Allison expressed the opinion that it would be able to report to the Senate and House by to-morrow. He said that excellent progress was being made, but that it was impossible for the present to give details of the proceedings.

The House members are manifesting a disposition to accept the minor amendments without cavil, and the indications now are that at least 80 per cent of the Senate amendments will be retained without serious dispute. The more important amendments are naturally the ones upon which there is most controversy, and so far the seigniorage provision has proved to be the most difficult problem with which the committee has had to deal.

The Republicans members of the conference are naturally opposed to any provision for coining the silver in the treasury, but they realize there will be great difficulty to get the Senate to accept a report that does not make some provision of this character.

The probabilities now are that a substitute silver provision will be reported.

TO EARLY RECRUIT TO FULL STRENGTH

CHICKAMAUGA NATIONAL MILITARY PARK, Tenn., June 7.—The very warm weather, which has been the only drawback to the work at the park, is relieved to-day by a steady breeze, and the men are going through their drill work with much less trouble than usual. Regiment and company drills, and in some regiments camp instruction, are now the order of the day.

The main work of the regimental commanders outside a regular routine during the next few days will be the work of recruiting each company to its full strength of 106 men. The Major of each battalion, accompanied by four men, will be sent out to do the recruiting. Offices will be opened in the best places in all the States represented here, and every effort will be made to get the work finished in a short time.

When the regiments are recruited to full strength the park army will number 75,000 men.

The 1st Regiment, South Carolina Infantry under Col. Thompson, arrived this afternoon. It was taken through to the park soon after arriving here.

Gov. Bradley with a large party of prominent Kentuckians arrives this evening at 9 o'clock on a special train. The party will remain in the park several days. All the light batteries of artillery at the park are now fully equipped and the infantry regiments will soon receive their equipment.

Three division hospitals are now complete and in operation. These are for the 2d and 3d divisions of the 1st Corps and the 2d division of the 3d Corps.

Col. Hartsuff, Surgeon-in-Chief, states that he has sufficient medical supplies on hand to last some time. The volunteers, however, he states, expect more and use more medicine than the regulars. A large consignment of surgical instruments is en route.

Maj. Nye, Commissary of Subsistence, stated this morning that one-third of 4,500,000 rations last ordered had been received, and that the balance was coming as fast as train loads could haul it. Capt. W. K. Wright, Assistant Quartermaster, stated that up to 6 o'clock last evening the volunteer army had been furnished by the Quartermaster's Department with 4500 horses and 5200 mules. The army is now about fully supplied with cavalry, artillery, wagon train and officers' horses and mules, and only a few more are needed.

MONITOR MONTEREY READY FOR SEA.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The United States steamer Monterey and the steamer Brutus, which is to accompany her, are still in the harbor, but both vessels are ready for sea and all the officers and men have reported to their respective vessels. It may be probable that the Monterey is awaiting advices from Washington in reply to telegrams brought by the steamer Belgic which arrived from the Orient and Honolulu this morning.

TOO YOUNG TO MARRY.

AN ORPHAN COUPLE FROM THE TENNESSEE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL.

NO RELATIVES OR FRIENDS.

Miss Hattie Turrentine and Boyd Hatfield Make Application for a License to Wed.

During the progress of the regular license issuing business of the day a small boy, whose head barely came to the top of the desk, walked up to Clerk Bilhartz Tuesday and said:

"I want a license."

"A what?" said the clerk.

"A marriage license," said the boy, who was then joined by a lady-like girl in a red, fluffy shirt waist, who said that they wanted to get married, as they expected to make their home here, having come from the State Industrial School at Nashville, Tenn.

The clerk could not believe that the boy was over 16 years of age, but both he and the young woman insisted that he was 19, which was also her age.

Clerk Bilhartz questioned them closely, but could not confuse them in the least.

The young woman, who said her name was Hattie Turrentine, stated she had been in the Tennessee Industrial School for several years, and that during the last year she had been a teacher in the institution.

The boy, who gave his name as Boyd Hatfield, she said, had been at the industrial school at the same time, and that she had met him there.

She said they thought St. Louis was a prosperous place, where they might make a living for themselves, so they decided to come here and get married, as they had no friends or relatives anywhere in the world, having been sent to the school as orphans many years ago.

The clerk was disposed to believe their statement, but the boy, only claiming to be 19 years old, was not eligible for a license, unless the consent of a guardian was first obtained.

Nothing daunted by the first rebuff, which they had evidently expected, they went to the Probate Court to have a guardian appointed for the boy, as is done in the cases of boys under age who desire to enlist in the army. The clerk of the Probate Court instructed them to return later in the day when their rather peculiar case would be presented to Judge Rassieur. The young couple were not disposed to talk about themselves any more than was absolutely necessary to secure what they wanted.

When they left the Courthouse they expressed a determination to come back in the afternoon.

The boy does not look to be more than 16 years old, but is a self-reliant and independent young fellow. Both of them conducted themselves with perfect propriety and politeness.

NO NIGHT PARK CONCERTS

Commissioner Ridgely Tells Why He Opposes Any Such Scheme.

Park Commissioner Ridgely will oppose night concerts in Forest Park. He will do this not so much because night concerts conduce to immorality as because they conduce to the destruction of park property.

Mr. Ridgely said Tuesday that the experience he had last season was all he cared for. Great damage was done by the people who attended the concerts. They walked over the shrubs, stole flowers and even flower pots, and destroyed flower beds. He was obliged to keep a force of men at work all the time repairing the damage.

He thinks the hours fixed for the Forest Park concerts, 4 to 7 p. m. on Saturdays, will enable the working classes to hear them.

KANE EXONERATED.

Death of His Wife Caused by Her Own Interposition.

Daniel Kane, the teamster who accidentally ran over and killed his wife Sunday morning near Boyle and Duncan avenues, was completely exonerated from blame at the Coroner's inquest held Tuesday.

The testimony was to the effect that Kane's wife tried to stop his horses and in doing so was knocked down and trampled upon and then rolled under the heavy wheels.

GLAD THEY ARE IN JAIL.

Negroes Charged With Assaulting Mrs. Majueneux Waive Examination.

John and William Ellis, the negroes charged with assaulting aged Mrs. Jennie Majueneux, were arraigned before Judge Belleville at Florissant Tuesday. They waived examination and were held for the grand jury.

The court room was thronged and crowds surrounded the building, but the negroes were well guarded and violence was not attempted. Mrs. Majueneux was in court and shook her fist at the negroes as they stood before the bar.

The men were taken back to Clayton under an extra strong guard. Prosecuting Attorney Heidorn says the evidence against them is the strongest he ever saw in an assault case.

As the men cannot give bond they will be held in Clayton jail. They are probably glad of it, for they think their lives would not be worth much if they attempted to return home.

WAS OFF TO FIGHT SPANIARDS.

Willie St. John's Plans Thwarted by a Union Station Policemen.

Willie St. John, the 13-year-old son of Huston M. St. John of the Wrought Iron Range Co., residing at 3127 Thomas street, told his mother good-by Monday and said he was going to the front. When the lad didn't return for the midday meal a description of him was sent to the police with instructions to be on the lookout for him.

Late in the afternoon Policeman Carsson saw the truant on the midway at Union Station and arrested him. The boy denied that he was Willie St. John and insisted that he was Frank Carlin. Mr. St. John was summoned by telephone, and when the boy saw his father he broke down and admitted his identity. He declared he was only going to Ellendale to shoot sparrows. A small pistol was taken from the pocket of the young warrior.

Mr. Holman Goes to Pittsburg.

Water Commissioner Holman was granted a 10 days' leave of absence Tuesday. He will go to Pittsburg to inspect some steel work for the Compton Hill water tower. While there he will also inspect the filter plant in use in the city.

JUDGE MURPHY'S BILL.

Wants $500 for Getting a Public Improvement for Mr. Steinloge.

ST. LOUIS, April 23, 1898.

Henry Steinloge to David Murphy, Dr.

To professional services as your attorney in the matters of the opening of Rosalie avenue and other streets, $500.

Further than this modest bill plaintiff sayeth not, but the defendant Steinloge will answer through his attorney, Louis A. Steber, that the ecentric Judge Murphy is exorbitant with his charges "in the matter of the opening of Rosalie avenue," etc.

It will be interesting to note wherein the value of an attorney's services in aiding a client to get a public improvement made can reach $500.

The suit is set for trial in Justice Haughton's court, having been taken there from Justice Spalding's temple of justice on a change of venue granted the defendant.

Steinloge is a wealthy dairyman, with residence and place of business at 6301 Florissant avenue.

When Rosalie avenue and other streets were cut through his extensive pastures many of his broad acres became town lots on the line of an electric road and the dairyman is supposed to have become rich.

UNCLE HENRY KEEPS MUM.

Won't Discuss a Rumor Which Concerns the Hon. Mr. Filley.

Mayor Ziegenhein declines to talk politics these days. He was asked Tuesday if there was truth in the rumor that the Union League Club and the Merchants' League Club were to be consolidated with the purpose of leaving no place on earth for Chauncey I. Filley.

"I never pay any attention to stories," the Mayor said smiling broadly. He then set sail and swiftly ran the blockade of newspaper men on the second floor corridor.

WAR MAKES BUSINESS HERE.

Army Requisitions Keep Sub-Treasury Officials Hard at Work.

The Sub-treasury department had an unusually busy day Monday. More than $500,000 was paid out.

"A great part of this amount," said Assistant United States Treasurer Small, "was in settlement of army requisitions. Our business has greatly increased since the war began."

POLICE BOARD MEETING.

Billed for Wednesday and May Be Quite Uneventful.

The Police Board will meet Wednesday afternoon instead of Tuesday. Nothing of much importance is before the Board and it is highly improbable that any sweeping changes will be made.

The Commissioners have repeatedly stated that they intend to do nothing revolutionary and will drop only such men as prove inefficient.

HOBSON'S MOTHER'S HOME TO BE SAVED TO HER.

MOBILE, Ala., June 7.—M. P. Inge, trustee of the old city debt of Mobile and a former resident of Greensboro, Ala., has associated with himself John L. Rapier, publisher of the Mobile Register, and R. V. Taylor, auditor of the Mobile & Ohio Railroad, in an effort to raise a fund to pay a mortgage upon the home of the heroic Richmond Hobson at Greensboro. Mr. Inge says:

"Through honorable misfortune Mrs. Hobson was forced first to sell a part of her homestead property and then to mortgage the rest, and has not been able to redeem it, despite the fact that her son faithfully sent to his mother all of his pay above the cost of actual maintenance of himself as a cadet since being in the service. I notice in the Alabama Beacon, published in Greensboro, that this mortgage is advertised for foreclosure sale, which will take place the 15th of this month. Thus this brave boy's mother's home is to be taken from her, no doubt because, from his meager pay as a naval officer, he is unable to lift the debt. Now, young Hobson doubtless will be voted the thanks of Congress, together with a sword or a medal, but these will not pay a mortgage, and I propose to appeal to the people of this appreciative nation to pay off this mortgage and buy back the part of the old homestead that has been sacrificed, and that the title shall be in the name of Richmond P. Hobson, where he will find rest with his mother when peace shall bring its blessings to our country."

This purpose was announced this morning and, although no publication was made, contributions came in in large numbers to Mr. Inge and are still arriving.

The First National Bank of Mobile has been selected as repository for the fund.

THINKS TOO MUCH OF LIFE

A Pitchfork Couldn't Drive Murphy to Testify Against Kempf.

An affidavit out of the usual order was filed by Judge Dillon Tuesday in courtroom No. 4 in the divorce case of Alice Kempf against Paul Kempf.

The defendants were anxious to go to trial, but Judge Dillon, who represented Mrs. Kempf, said he wanted his witnesses called. A man named Michael Murphy failed to respond, and then Judge Dillon said that Murphy was a necessary witness, but had not been found because he was afraid to testify.

Murphy, he said, had testified in a case against Kempf and as a result had been assaulted on the streets. When he was asked to testify in the divorce case he said he could not be driven into court with a pitchfork, as he did not want to imperil his life again.

This witness, Judge Dillon said, was absolutely necessary as were also the two sisters of Mr. Kempf.

"We have been trying to serve them for a long time," said Judge Dillon, "but we have been unable to do so. We propose to show by them that the defendant has transferred all his property to them since this suit was filed. We have had their former residence watched for weeks without avail."

Judge Dillon reduced his statement to writing and filed it in the form of an affidavit.

Kempf was formerly a saloonkeeper and has been having trouble with his wife for some time. Another witness named Slattery is also said to have had some trouble with Mr. Kempf because of testifying in the case.

A POSER BY NIC KARR.

He's Trying to Find Out Something About Engines and Red Tape.

If it takes two weeks to get an engine repaired when an emergency exists, Nic Karr, superintendent of the Workhouse, wants to know how long it would take if no emergency existed.

By reason of the broken engine, Mr. Karr is not able to pump water out of one of his quarries, and there is a prospect of work having to be suspended.

Mr. Karr was at the City Hall Tuesday, complaining about red tape delays.

MUCH DELAY IN SECURING UNIFORMS.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—There has been apparently needless delay in securing the uniforms. Not a man in the army about to go abroad is suitably equipped for the tropics. The troops that have already sailed for Manila will have much to contend with. They have gone clad in the service uniform of the army. It is unsuited to the torrid humidity of the Philippines. It is out of place under the fierce sun of Eastern Cuba and Porto Rico.

It has been ascertained that a serviceable linen suit can be obtained for a little less than $4, but several weeks will elapse before the army can be supplied. The expeditionary troops will swelter and sizzle and suffer the torments of prickly heat in uniforms suited for Montana. The President's much-desired early peace will have to be won by heroes clad in thick woolens, under the raging vertical sun of the tropics. One regiment has sixteen undershirts issued to each company.

CAVALRY ORDERED TO THE PHILIPPINES.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Orders have been received at the Presidio for the 4th United States Cavalry to make ready for service in the Philippines. The instructions given to Col. Morris were to have six troops go to Manila within two weeks. He answered that the men were ready now. It was decided that the cavalrymen should take their horses to the number of 400. If the animals are transported without loss and stand the climate of the Islands, another regiment of cavalry will probably be sent later on.

Joseph Kraus Is Held.

Joseph Kraus was held to the grand jury in a $2500 bond Tuesday by Judge Murphy. He was charged with having killed Frank Schwandt in a card game at Tenth and O'Fallon streets on May 23.

FOR MISSOURI SOLDIERS.

The movement to organize an association to look after the comfort and welfare of Missouri soldiers deserves the hearty support of all Missourians.

While the Government supplies the necessaries for the soldier boys and the Red Cross Society ministers to the sick and wounded, there is yet a wide margin of helpfulness for a special organization.

In the care of the sick and disabled, the relief of needy families of soldiers, the supplying of reading matter, the identification and burial of the dead and the general oversight of the physical and moral welfare of the men in the field the association will find abundant reasons for existence and active work.

To-night's meeting for the purpose of organizing should have a large attendance. The work should be inaugurated as soon as possible.

If the President was "rushed into war," he should have rushed the war and brought it to an end as soon as possible.

ANNEXATION BY FRAUD.

An attempt is to be made to force the Hawaiian annexation scheme through Congress under pressure of war necessity.

The necessity is not apparent to the disinterested mind. We are not threatened in the Pacific by Spain or any other power, and the possession of these islands will not have the slightest influence one way or the other in shaping the conduct of this war.

To raise the cry of war necessity is insincere. It exposes the scheme as insincere and is enough to condemn it.

According to the Rev. Dixon, opposition to the Hawaiian job is treason. The Rev. Dixon has a very active mouth.

AMERICAN PROSPERITY.

The manufacturers of the United States seem to be "getting out into the world."

According to the report of the Bureau of Statistics, the exports for the 10 months covered exceed by over $40,000,000 the value of the manufactures imported, and this will be increased to $50,000,000 by the close of the fiscal year.

This is the first year in the history of the country in which exports exceed imports. The trade has been growing steadily for 10 years and all branches of manufacture share the increase.

Agricultural implements, locomotive engines, bar iron, builders' hardware, nails of all kinds—in fact, everything produced in America is making its way against the competition of the whole world. And at the same time we are furnishing food for all nations.

Altogether, the prospect is most pleasing. But if our manufacturers can successfully compete in the world's market, why should they need protection in the home market?

No sermon preached was so eloquent as the simple statement of facts in the Sunday Post-Dispatch showing that in a single slum section of St. Louis, covering four city blocks, over 3000 children are crowded, with no play grounds or grass and flowers. St. Louis citizens who go home nightly to comfortable homes should be ashamed to rest content with such a state of things. What can be done to better it?

FRANKIE RUSCHENBERG.

Five-year-old Frankie Ruschenberg and a great many other children and grown-up people have lost their lives under St. Louis street cars on account of the present ineffective fenders. Frankie's father has tried to get damages from the street railroad company for his child's death. The action was based on the ground that the street railway was running its cars at a dangerous and illegal speed. Judge Spencer has ruled that street car companies may run at any speed specified in the special ordinance of the company.

But how about the car fender, which was supposed to safeguard human life? If we are to have no limit on the speed of cars, are the people powerless to compel the street car companies to adopt life-saving fenders? Judge Spencer's ruling makes it imperative to ascertain this without delay. From now on it will be useless for citizens whose loved ones have been destroyed by the street car Juggernaut to look for damages in the courts on the ground of dangerous rate of speed. We must have proper fenders on the cars.

The Board of Public Improvements is responsible for the travesties now used for fenders. It accepted all styles of fenders offered, regardless of their effectiveness. It is responsible equally with the street car companies for the many murders that have resulted.

The slaughter of innocents without remedy must cease.

Doubtless there is some truth in the criticisms of Poultney Bigelow which have stirred up the anger of the Washington authorities. Gen. Miles is reported to have written sharp things about the conditions existing at Tampa. At Chickamauga they have not been much better. But Mr. Bigelow missed the mark when he selected Gens. "Joe" Wheeler and Fitzhugh Lee as examples of misfits in military appointments. These men have brilliant records. If all the new officers were as competent as these ex-Confederates the army would not suffer.

WAR AND POLITICS.

Gen. Charles H. Grosvenor is the congressional mouthpiece of the McKinley administration. In the letter written by him shortly after the declaration of war and published in yesterday's Post-Dispatch occurs the following remarkable statement:

So far we have heard vociferous clamor for immediate war, and the President has been rushed by political agitation into war, when, in the judgment of very many men, diplomacy would have settled the whole matter.

Now, first, how could a self-respecting or a reasonably resolute President be "rushed by political agitation into war," if, in his judgment, "diplomacy would have settled the whole matter?" Does this mean that Mr. McKinley abdicated his functions, that he cares so much for "political agitation," and so very little for right and justice and peace that he asked for a declaration of war in a case where he was convinced that there was no occasion for anything of the kind?

Is this the sort of President who is directing this "kind-hearted" war and forbidding those solar-plexus blows that would end it in a week?

We prefer to believe that Mr. Grosvenor misinterpreted the President.

Gen. Grosvenor continues:

It is a low estimate to say that the war will cost $2,000,000,000, and what are we to get out of it I am unable to say, except to appease the clamor of the people to whom I referred.

Now, if that is all, the war is a stupendous crime, whether it costs $2,000,000,000 or 2 cents. If there is no principle involved, if there is nothing at stake except the administration's desire to "appease the clamor," which means prepare for the autumn elections, then Mr. Grosvenor, in common with everybody else who voted for war, or in any way countenanced it, has committed—well, let us not give ugly names even to the very ugliest things.

The inferences are sufficiently obvious without epithets. It is pleasant to hope that Mr. Grosvenor has misunderstood Mr. McKinley.

If the week day concerts at the park are held in the afternoon, they will be either practically unattended or will be heard only by audiences comparatively little in need of free music. Delegate Madera's resolution to have them held at night is dictated by common sense. Night concerts will be attended by the workingmen and their families. They cannot be present at any other time of day.

It is easy to see how the present war is managed when it is known that in Pennsylvania the 10 regiments of militia which volunteered were deliberately swelled to 15 by the politicians in order to have officers appointed to the five extra regiments. It is fortunate, perhaps, that we are at war with a power so weak as Spain.

A list of the free passes issued by railways to judges before whom railway cases are to be decided would be interesting reading. The railways love to "honor" a judge as well as to recognize the least of the statesmen of a legislative body.

Congress is easy on the rich man in levying war taxes. It seems that the poor man must not only do most of the fighting, but he must pay more than a just proportion of the war expenses.

The Pacific railroads oppose the Nicaragua Canal because it threatens their transcontinental monopoly. This is one of the strongest arguments in favor of the project.

The President's kindness of heart has given the Spaniards more courage, but it has not benefited the Cubans or spared the American taxpayers.

If the excess of our manufacturing exports amounts to $40,000,000, why should high tariff taxes be demanded from American consumers?

The annexation of Hawaii would be a triumph of jobbery, and jobbery has had too many triumphs.

THE REVENGE-OF-AN-ISHMAELITE.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

"YOU'RE getting out in time for the war, Jerry," said the warden with a smile, as he gave No. 979 his hand at parting.

No. 979 smiled grimly in return. With his little bundle of clothing in hand and $23 in his pocket he walked out of the prison that had been his home for six years.

He stopped for a moment and looked up at the frowning walls.

"How soon will I be back?" he thought. For Jerry Carroll was a man without hope. The iron had burned in his soul. In all the world there was no one he could call friend.

"De war," he muttered. "How de —— could I enlist? Dey'd soon find out I'd worn stripes. War!"

His face grew black, sinister. He cursed as he walked toward the railroad station and made a desperate vow in his hard heart.

Henceforth his hand should be against every man. The world should be his prey. As he had suffered from society so would he requite society sevenfold.

That night he prowled along the Levee, whose lights glittered like wicked eyes.

He drank again and again.

A cutler's window fascinated him with its display of shining knives.

He thrust his pallid, evil face and dishonorably shaven head close to the window and soon selected his weapon.

He went into the shop and presently came out with the knife hidden beneath his rough coat.

That knife he meant for the man whose testimony had sent him to prison.

He would find him. Find him! He shook his clinched fist at the darkness as he staggered on.

Next day he wandered here and there through the wretched streets of the "Patch," looking in every man's face. The one thought lurking in the mind of the unhappy man was that of murder.

Over and over he pictured how he should come upon him, how spring upon him like a wild beast, how bury that knife in his heart.

Suddenly a shriek of childish fury roused him from his fit of abstraction.

He gazed stupidly upon a wretched, dirty little boy, who, sitting upon a wretched, dirty doorstep, dug his fists in his eyes and wailed aloud.

"Me flag!" howled the child; "me flag, me Stars and Stripes."

"Wot de devil ails de kid?" asked the Ishmaelite stopping short.

"Me flag," howled the child; "me flag. Me Stars an' Stripes."

"Your wot? Well, I'm danged. Makin' all this bloomin' row about a flag?"

"A lady give me a flag, an' we wuz playin' killin' Spaniards, an' Mickey Dunn an' Tony de Dago hoked it from me an, run—dang dere eyes!" and the child gnashed his teeth with impotent rage.

Jerrys heart instantly warmed to this tiny Ishmaelite. He, too, had his grievance against society. Society has robbed him of his dearest possession.

He held out his hand.

"Come along wid me," he said. "I'll buy youse a flag. An' fer God's sake quit that hollerin'."

The child quickly wiped away his tears and taking his new friend's hand went confidingly with him.

They soon found a fakir selling flags, and Jerry bought one for the boy as well as a tiny badge bearing the historic inscription: "Remember the Maine."

The knife fell from his hand and clattered down on the cold bare floor.

"Youse must go along home wid me," he stated. "I want me fadder ter see dis flag. If youse don't come dem t'ieves will take dis one and de pin, too."

Jerry like the boy and humored him.

"All right," he said; "I'll go wid youse. Were is it?"

"O'Fallon street," said the child, strutting along with his flag. "Me fadders pretty sick. He don't say nothin' more to me much. He jest lies wid his face ter de wall all day. But he'll look at dis flag, fer he wuz dead agin dem Spaniards an' wuz a-goin' ter de war 'fore he took sick."

No. 979 followed his little guide into the cold, cheerless room where the sick man lay on a miserable bed.

At the sound of footsteps, he turned his face, ghastly and damp with the approach of death, toward them.

And at the sight of that face, everything went red before the convict and he reached blindly for his knife.

"Jerry Carroll," said the dying man, raising himself on one elbow, "is that you? I'm a-dyin', Jerry, that's wot, I am a-dyin'. It's a good job youse come. I want yer forgiveness, Jerry, afore I go. Yer forgive"——

He raised a feeble hand.

"Youse were innocent, Jerry, that I swear, Bob," turning helplessly to the child, "Bob, little Bob, listen to wot I'm a-sayin' now. Dis here gentleman, Bob, were badly treated. Try to make up ter him, Bob, fer de trouble I've made."

He stopped suddenly. His head dropped on his breast.

He was dead.

The convict stood as one stupefied. His jaw dropped.

Suddenly he looked at little Bob.

The frightened child was shaking his father.

"Look at me flag, dad," he was saying, "look!"

He stopped suddenly and softly whimpered—a forlorn little creature clutching his flag close to his ragged shirt.

The Ishmaelite sank into a chair. He put his arms around the desolate little figure, and, drawing the boy to his breast, burst into a passion of tears.

EDITH SESSIONS TUPPER.

THE ASSASSINS OF HAVANA HARBOR

OR

VENGEANCE FOR THE MAINE MARTYRS.

BY

LEON LEWIS.

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTER.

Lieut. Jenkins and three Yankee tars, Boyd, O'Reilly and Donovan, while returning to the Maine from shore leave in Havana Feb. 10, 1898, find a submarine wire leading apparently from the shore to their ship. They also hear the sound of machinery, as though from a submarine boat. Reaching the ship Jenkins and Capt. Sigsbee receive a visit from a beautiful Cuban girl who calls herself Nita Gentil. She warns them of various dangers menacing the Maine, particularly of a submarine boat that invests the harbor.

CHAPTER II.

IN QUEST OF THE SUBMARINE CRUISER.

"A brave, splendid girl," was the comment of Capt. Sigsbee, as he and Lieut. Jenkins stood looking after the retreating figure of Nita Gentil.

"I agree with you, Captain," returned the Lieutenant. "And now to speak of a very strange discovery I made while coming off the ship."

The amazement with which Capt. Sigsbee listened to these revelations was equaled only by his satisfaction.

"Of course the Spanish authorities in Cuba are capable of any infamy," was his first comment. "Nations, like individuals, have their periods of desperation, as the inevitable outcome of a long career of depravity. What do you say, Lieutenant, to making an effort to trace that submarine craft to its hiding place?"

"I was about to propose that very thing, sir," returned Jenkins.

"Can it be done?"

"It can, if fortune favors us."

"Do you think it will be possible to trace the wire ashore or learn what there is at the outer end of it?"

"I hope so. The attempt will be made, sir."

The Captain reflected again.

"The Dons may not like these investigations," he continued, "but we are entitled to make them, after what is already known and suspected. Get into your uniform and go to work boldly but quietly, following to its end any clue that may reach you."

A few minutes later the Lieutenant returned to his boat, finding his three trusty tars already seated in it. The boat stole away like a specter.

"It was about here that we left that oar," at length said the Lieutenant, in a guarded tone. "Stop rowing and we'll see if we can find it."

The best attention of the quartet was given to the task before them, but not the least trace was seen of the oar to which they had attached the mysterious wire.

It had vanished.

"Are you sure, Lieutenant, that we left the oar hereabouts?" asked Boyd, when its disappearance could no longer be doubted.

"Yes, quite sure," was the reply, as the officer bent a comprehensive glance at his surroundings.

"Perhaps the wire has dragged it under," suggested Donovan.

"Yes, that is possible," returned Jenkins, "but in that case the wire itself can be at no great distance. Let's see if we can pick it up again."

Fifteen or twenty minutes were consumed in this effort, but its results were wholly negative, no trace of the wire being discovered.

"Perhaps the cable of some ship has swung against it, hauling it taut," continued Donovan.

The lieutenant shook his head.

"There's a better reason than that," he declared. "The wire has been removed, oar and all, since we went off to the ship!"

"Removed, sir? By whom?" demanded O'Reilly.

"By the occupants of that submarine boat," answered Jenkins, thoughtfully. "Perhaps they took note of all we were doing!"

"No doubt of that, sir," remarked Boyd. "It was not difficult matter, if they have skylights in their deck, to see above them!"

A brief silence succeeded, the lieutenant debating what should be his next measure.

"I thought I heard that submarine screw again," whispered Jenkins.

suddenly had the sound beneath him increased in volume.

"We had better be getting out of this," he resumed in a whisper. "They may run us down."

"The very thing, sir," gasped Boyd, with a wild glance of apprehension in the direction from which the sound appeared to be approaching. "They're coming this way, certain. Yes, here they are. Quick! We must——"

There was no time to say more.

A huge, dark object, like a monstrous nose, flashed out of the depths beneath them, lifting their boat high into the air, and turning it upside down, and hurling its occupants into the water.

CHAPTER III.

As the Lieutenant and his men descended into the water the submarine boat sprang half out of it, coming to a halt.

At the same instant a hatch was opened amidship and five or six armed men swarmed over the cigar-shaped craft, in readiness for battle.

One after another the four men were picked up—only to find themselves seized, overpowered and bound securely—and in less than five minutes they were all helpless prisoners in the interior of the submarine boat, which had closed its hatch and disappeared into the water, even more promptly than it had emerged from it.

"And now a fond welcome to you, gentlemen," cried a harsh, shrill, guttural voice, as a figure worthy of Satan presented itself to the gaze of the Lieutenant. "I am glad to make your acquaintance!"

It cost the prisoners an effort to accept the evidence of their senses.

"A FOND WELCOME TO YOU, GENTLEMEN."

"And I," returned his men in chorus.

Another brief interval of listening succeeded.

"There it is again!" breathed O'Reilly.

"And louder than before!" declared Boyd. "The boat is coming nearer!"

The Lieutenant stirred uneasily, without ceasing to watch and listen.

"It may be headed for us," he remarked. "If the boat is up to date, as Miss Gentil affirmed——"

He interrupted himself with a start, so

The figure before them was that of a hideous hunchback, not more than four and a half feet in height, with broad shoulders, long arms and huge, bony hands, a head like a giant's, with a shock of bushy black hair, and teeth so large, long and protruding, especially at the corners of the wide mouth, that they deserved to be compared with the tusks of a wild boar.

And yet this monstrous caricature of humanity was clad in the richest attire and was literally ablaze with diamonds upon his coarse fingers and snow-white linen.

He was, in fact, the sinister hunchback we have seen contemplating the Maine and proclaiming its impending destruction.

"Who are you?" Lieut. Jenkins could not help asking.

"I am Senor Don Cristobal de Galyano, Conde de Montesano," replied the hunchback with an air meant to be impressive, but which was ridiculous, "and I am the owner of the wonderful submarine boat, the Terror of the Seas."

"Well, now that we are here," queried the lieutenant, "what are you going to do with us?"

"I am going to place you under lock and key, and so keep you out of mischief," answered Galyano, his dark, goggle eyes gleaming savagely.

"Of course you will be missed," continued the hunchback with grim and mocking contentment, "but no one will ever know what has become of you. I have caused your boat to be picked up and taken away for concealment, and it will always be a mystery to your shipmates what fate overtook you.

"The existence of this boat is known to few, and we intend to be so wary that your people will know nothing of our movements until we have destroyed a dozen of your best vessels. As to the Maine, she is doomed!"

The miscreant turned away as one who has nothing further to say.

For five days, as near as they could judge, had the lieutenant and his men been prisoners in the old warehouse at Regla and subjected to all sorts of threats and abuse from their captors, when a strange silence fell upon the scene in which they were figuring. Hushed was the ribald and mocking laughter of their jailers, and it seemed as if these tormentors had suddenly droped out of existence.

"What can this mean?" said the Leutenant.

"Heaven knows," answered Boyd.

"They may be up to some new menace or meanness," said Donaavn.

As to O'Rielly, he was too anxious to even make a suggestion.

"There, at last!" was the ejaculation that succeeded a moment later, and Nita Gentil stood before them, bearing in her hands the keys of their dungeons and fetters.

"It has been a long watch and wait," she added, with clasped hands, "but at last I have drugged the aquadiente; and you can now make your escape, taking the Terror of the Seas with you."

As Lieut. Jenkins reached the deck of the Maine to make his report to Capt. Sigsbee, there came a report which will never cease to echo down the centuries—the explosion which destroyed the ship and 266 lives dear to their country, including th taof the noble and chivalrous lieutenant.

For three or four long hours Donovan and his chums waited near Atorcha Shoal for the return of their leader, all of them standing in the open hatchway, which was almost level with the water, and then a sigh escaped them that seemed like a rending of souls.

"He's dead, boys," said Donovan. "He said he'd be back in 30 minutes, or send word to us, but he can never do either if he returned just in time to perish!"

To Better Condition of Stenographers.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I have noticed complaints from stenographers. I have been a Government stenographer in this city for 15 years, and during that time have seen the average salary of a stenographer reduced from $75 to about $35 per month.

If those interested will write me, giving name and address, I will call a meeting at which steps can be taken to effect a remedy. This applies to stenographers of both sexes.

Drainage Badly Needed.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Will you kindly call the attention of the Street Commissioner to the fearful condition of the streets on Theodosia avenue, 5700 block. The water is from one to five feet deep and as a consequence cellars are full and streets impassable. Earlier in the spring engines were employed to force the water away, but now nothing is done. Why can't there be sewers laid to carry this filthy water away?

Modern Industry.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In criticising Zola's novel, "Paris," the London Spectator falsely says: "Industry is nothing more to-day than the application of science to production." The context shows that the Spectator means our modern industrial system, the chief feature of which is the exploitation of the workers by means of the wage and profit division of products.

England's Record in Ireland.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The English Government stole the land of the Irish people, tortured, murdered and enslaved its inhabitants, destroyed its manufacturing industries, prohibited its commerce, forbade the education of the people, and has reduced the population of the country one-half in 50 years.

Let England cleanse her hands of the stain of Ireland's blood before she extends them to us in solicitation of an alliance.

A Poor Showing.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

While the "spirit moves me" let me indignantly protest against the poor and miserable showing the British Vice-Consul, M. Weaten Bascome, is making of flags over the entrance to his office. They were I suppose the British, American and Cuban flags, and originally cost at the most a nickel each, but the colors are so washed out that they are now nothing better than dirty rags. Such a showing but poorly suggests the cordial feeling that is existent at the present time between England and America. Yours truly,

The People—What Do They Think?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

This damning of an entire country because its money lenders, or its editors, or its aristocrats, or its Colonels, are obnoxious, is medieval. Back of these little cliques and classes are the great masses of a country's people. How would it do to find out what they think before cursing the nation to which they belong? The only way to discover their opinions is to read papers that are really near to them, especially labor and trades union papers.

Sampsonville or Schleysburg.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Regarding the proposed changes in street nomenclature, the writer has for years felt the necessity for such a change. Who does not feel, while rambling along "Skinker road," which forms the western boundary of Forest Park, that the name, while not so full of tradition, historic and otherwise, is really more appropriate and becoming to a democratic highway than that which disgraces the magnificent throughfare upon the eastern side of the beautiful park.

And while the reformatory spirit is within us, why restrict our labors to streets alone? Does not the name of our beloved city bear the stigma of royalty? Let us hope that events of the immediate future may be of a character to warrant us changing its name to Sampsonville or Schleysburg.

Who Should Fight the Dons?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In your issue of yesterday a correspondent said that only taxpayers should be permitted to vote on the Charter amendments. I hold that only taxpayers should be permitted to go to the front in our struggle with the Dons. This is their country and they should fight for it. The enemy would go down before them as we here at home go down before their charges—rent.

Didn't Know Phillips or Garrison.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

A short time ago two young men, Lloyd and Osborn, were arrested for speaking on the courthouse steps. Lloyd assured the police that he had only said what Wendell Phillips had said many times, without being arrested. The "officers" wanted to know where that fellow Phillips was, and they would arrest "the d—d anarchist." On being informed that William Lloyd Garrison had made similar speeches, one of the policemen remarked "that was one of the fellows we hung in Chicago."

It seems that a little Civil Service would not be amiss in selecting our city guards.

TIPS FROM THE INTERIOR.

There Are Others.

From the Kansas City Times.

The Jefferson City Tribune takes Dave Ball to task because he is not an admirer of the present state administration. The man from Pike will not worry about what the Tribune says and he will find thousands of democrats all over the state who will echo his sentiment that there should be "a new deal in Missouri."

A Functional Derangement.

From the Springfield (Mo.) Mail.

GOV. STEPHENS AND HIS ORGANS.

Now and then a Stephens gum-sucking organ bobs up, declares that every paper in the state that refuses to indorse his policy does so from some disgruntled motive or other. Why doesn't the Governor and his willing organs deny that he appointed such notorious election boodlers as Hugh Brady to important offices?

A Broken Idol.

From the Wheeling (Mo.) Missing Link.

Gov. Stephens has been fully discussed "pro and con. for and against," and it seems that people generally have arrived at the conclusion that he is more capable of doing "one senseless thing than another." We share in the conviction and have taken his picture from the wall and filled the niche with nothing and hung our office towell over it.

Not a Knock-Out Blow.

From the Springfield (Mo.) Leader-Democrat.

Your Uncle Henry Ziegenhein, Mayor of St. Louis, who a few days ago thought he had blossomed out as a State Republican boss, was knocked out in the first round. He made a test of strength with Kerens in the matter of the Brookfield postoffice fight, but Kerens won in a walk-over. That settles Your Uncle Henry as a State boss.

I will make inseparable cities with their

BLOODHOUNDS YET AFTER HIM.

Fearful Crime Perpetrated by Edward Haff.

MISS ANNIE YOUNG TELLS OF THE ATTACK.

THE PLAN BY WHICH A SCOUNDREL CARRIED OUT HIS PURPOSES.

LONG PRISON RECORD BEHIND THE BRUTE.

Indignant Citizens and Officers of Alton Exerting Every Effort to Recapture the Fugitive and Attend to His Punishment.

The fate of Edward Haff, to whose record has been added the assault upon an innocent young girl, may not be left to the calm deliberation of a jury, if the determined citizens of Alton succeed in apprehending him. The whole city is stirred with indignation over the distressing affair and nothing will be left undone to capture the fugitive.

MISS ANNIE YOUNG.

Second and Cherry streets. The house is a modest, one-story frame structure. The family recently removed from Bunker Hill, Ill., where they had lived many years in the enjoyment of an excellent reputation.

Mr. Young belongs to the G. A. R. and is now in the Soldiers' Home at Quincy, under treatment for defective eyesight. He knows nothing of the cloud that has darkened his home, nor will he be informed of the atrocious crime.

Annie is of rather slender build, though well developed for her age. She has blonde, curly hair and blue eyes that are now swollen from weeping. She spoke Monday evening to a Post-Dispatch reporter with much hesitation, while an occasional tear rolled down her cheeks.

"I dislike to tell," she said, "about my fearful experience. No one can imagine how it has preyed on my mind, day and night, even haunting my dreams. I never saw Edward Haff until about 10 days ago. I was looking at the show window of one of the jewelry stores when he walked up the street and spoke to me. I didn't take much notice of him, but I just spoke a few words, not to be impolite. I guess I must have told him where we lived, for the very next afternoon he was at the house.

"Mamma told him we were preparing to move and she apologized for the house being so upset. Then Haff remarked that he was a real estate agent for Edward Mack and that he had a number of nice houses on his list to rent. He referred to one, particularly, that mamma said would just suit us. Haff suggested that as mamma was busy I should go along with him and take a look at the rooms. I saw no objection, neither did ma, and so I went.

"We got on a car at Main street and rode a long distance. I began to get worried. I asked of Haff several times when we would reach the place and he always replied: 'We'll be there in a few minutes.' After a while we alighted from the car. It was the end of the line and we seemed to have reached a wilderness. I afterwards learned it was North Alton. It was growing late and I wanted to go back.

"Haff pretended he had forgotten all about the house and he then made me walk with him through the forest. He glanced at me strangely now and then and I shall remember his looks forever. As we neared a thicket he grabbed me around the waist and I screamed. Haff drew a handkerchief and tied it into a knot. He threatened to choke me to death if I didn't remain quiet. I fought for life.

"'For God's sake, let me go!' I pleaded with him again and again. I fought and screamed till I was hoarse, but no help came. My dress was torn almost to shreds and I was muddy from head to foot.

"Haff took me back to the car in that condition and then he left me, saying: 'If you breathe a word of this to any one I will kill you.' He had an insane look in his eyes and I was nervous and frightened. I reached home about 8 o'clock.

"Mother asked me the trouble and commented on my soiled and torn dress. I couldn't speak to answer her, and went straight to bed. The next morning I told her all. Then from the police we learned what a monster Haff was. When I think how he treated me I wish he were dead. I hope the search will not be given up until he is found."

Mrs. Young sat near and listened intently to her child's awful story.

"I am afraid Haff will return and wreak vengeance upon us yet," she said. "I have asked for a special policeman to guard my house at night. But Haff will not live to see another day if I get a chance to pass on his case."

Haff was arrested, charged with the crime and locked up at the police station. He was arraigned before Justice B. C. Fuss, Saturday, for preliminary examination, and bound over to the grand jury. He was returned to jail, but was confined there only a short while, when he forced open a window and escaped.

The prisoner was rowing across the river in a skiff when the police discovered that he was missing. Policemen, citizens and county marshal, re-enforced by bloodhounds, scoured the vicinity of Alton until early Sunday morning.

The search was renewed Monday, when Chief of Police Kuhns acted on a clew which indicated that Haff had made his way to the Missouri shore. He followed in the desperado's trail several hours and returned to the city weary and exhausted, though not dismayed.

Edward Haff was born among the riffraf of Alton's population. His home was a frame cabin situated on what is known as Penitentiary Hill. But he was given the opportunities of a good education and proved a bright though erring scholar. He was master of stenography at 13 years, but he never availed himself of his ability. He was wicked in boyhood, and had the blackest record of any man in the State of Illinois at 20 years of age. He terrorized Alton time and again and has been frequently threatened with lynching. When 15 years old Haff was tried and convicted on a charge of murder. An old man was the victim. A few feet from Haff's house is a high cliff, descending to a quarry. Over this, it is alleged, Haff threw the man, after robbing him of his money. He was sentenced to 14 years in the penitentiary, but owing to his youth was pardoned when his time had only half expired.

Shortly after his release the fellow was accused of wholesale robberies in Alton, and was sent to the penitentiary a second time. While in there he quarreled with a harmless colored boy. The negro resented the abuse. Haff picked up an iron bar and almost cleaved the negro's skull. For that offense his term was increased seven years.

"Fear is widespread in Alton whenever Haff returns here from the penitentiary," says Chief of Police Kuhns. "We had to keep our eyes on this man day and night. He would hold up a train, rob a beggar or assault a dying man to get hold of a penny. We had him under suspicion of causing his old grandmother's death. The feeble old lady was kicked down a flight of stairs and there was evidence to show that Haff assaulted the helpless woman. Edward Haff is the fiercest and most desperate character I ever had to deal with. He had the criminal instinct when a boy, and I have held him in the police station times without number. He virtually admitted his guilt in this last case, and I am confident we will capture him and have him placed in the penitentiary for the rest of his days. The penal authorities at Chester, Ill., tell me he was the most troublesome man they ever received.

"I want the people to allow the law to take its course, though their patience with Edward Haff is about exhausted. Haff's father, John, is in the county poorhouse. He served a term at Joliet for passing counterfeit money. His son, Frank, is now finishing a third sentence in the same penitentiary. Fred is the only one who has kept himself clear of crime."

Mrs. Haff is about 65 years old and bent with many sorrows.

"I don't believe my son guilty of the thousand crimes charged against him," she said to a Post-Dispatch reporter. "He has been falsely accused and unjustly punished. I know he has done wrong, but there are worse men than him. I have always loved the boy, because he was kind and good to me. He was a brilliant little fellow, but he misused his talents. No, he never worked much, because he couldn't get anything to do. I believe him innocent of harming that young girl. Eddy had some good traits in his character and one of them was his respect for women. I know the people of Alton mean to kill my dear son, but I shall pray earnestly to a just God that he be spared such a horrible death."

Haff was married two years ago, but his wife is not in Alton at the present time. He is described as of slim build, five feet nine inches high, dark complexioned and small eyes, with prominent cheek bones.

ANNIE GANNON VICTORIOUS.

Won Her Suit for Damages Against the Laclede Gaslight Co.

A special telegram to the Post-Dispatch from Jefferson City, Tuesday, says the Supreme Court in banc has affirmed the judgment of the St. Louis Circuit Court giving Annie Gannon $3000 against the Laclede Gaslight Co. as damages for the death of her husband, caused by shrinking his roof against the defendant's wires, which had been broken in two and allowed to lay along a public highway in St. Louis. Judge Robinson wrote the opinion. Chief Justice Gantt, Judges Burgess and Williams concur and Judges Sherwood, Brace and Marshall dissent.

NO RECRUITING FOR INFANTRY.

Belief Prevails That Volunteers Are Not Needed.

ADJT.-GEN. BELL WAITING IN VAIN FOR ORDERS.

WAR DEPARTMENT WITHHOLDING INSTRUCTIONS UNDER THE SECOND CALL.

A FEW MEN WANTED FOR THE CAVALRY ARMY.

Sudden and Unexpected Pause in the Work of Completing the Quota of Missouri Regiments Already in the Field.

It is possible the 1700 men asked for to complete the Missouri regiments now in the field and the three Missouri regiments required by the second call for volunteers may never be mustered in.

Gen. Bell returned to St. Louis from Jefferson City Tuesday morning and found no orders from the War Department awaiting him.

He telegraphed Adjutant-General Corbin a week ago, asking for instructions as to the enlistment of the 1700 additional men, but no reply has been made.

Gen. Bell does not understand the silence of the War Department. He reported in his last dispatches that he had the 1700 volunteers ready for enlistment, and expected to receive immediate instructions. Everything hangs fire as a result of the failure of the Department to issue the instructions. The volunteers all over the State are ready and anxious to be mustered, and are growing impatient at the delay. Majs. Hardeman and Moore are remaining in St. Louis in anticipation of their services being needed to muster in the additional troops.

This strange condition of affairs leads Gen. Bell to believe that the officers at the War Department are confident the war will end soon, and that the additional troops will not be needed.

There are more than 30,000 troops at Chickamauga, besides those at other points, many of them not armed or equipped, and if the war should cease soon, it is believed there would be no need of more volunteers.

"It begins to look much as though the department figured on an early settlement of the war, and was holding back on that account," said Gen. Bell. "I have everything ready for mustering in, but can get no reply to my requests for instructions."

It has been suggested that the delay of the department is due to unwillingness to send war troops into the field until those already there are fully armed and equipped.

Maj. Fuller, late of the 2d Cavalry, will close his recruiting office Tuesday evening. By that time he will have enlisted about 400 men.

He is uncertain what will become of him after Tuesday. He is a major in the 1st Missouri and has expected to join that command at Chickamauga when his recruiting duty ended. But there is a probability now, according to Gen. Bell, that he will be held here to assist in the mustering in of the additional Missouri troops. If so he will probably be sent to Kansas City to take charge of the companies raised there.

Maj. Fuller's office was visited Tuesday morning by the father of William Stephenson and the mother of Owen Canley. The young men are recruits and the parents called on the major in an attempt to secure their discharge. The excuse given by Mrs. Cauley is that although he is 21 years old she is dependent absolutely on him for support. Stephenson's father said his son was only 18. In both cases the young men must have made false representations to have enlisted, as the question is asked each recruit whether he has a widowed mother dependent on him for support and whether he is of legal age. An affirmative answer in the first case absolutely bars him and in the second case he must bring the written consent of his parents.

The offense in case of this kind is known as false enlistment and is punishable, but the Government has of late been lax in this respect, preferring to dishonorably discharge offenders rather than to go through the troublesome formality of a court-martial.

Sergeant Charles Coburn, Capt. Owen J. Sweet's right-hand man at the recruiting office, has a fine promise of a promotion. He has been recommended by the Adjutant-General for a special clerkship in the latter's office at Washington. The position is a considerable increase in pay as well as pleasanter work.

Sergeant Coburn has been in Capt. Sweet's office five years and is one of the most efficient recruiting officers in the army. His shrewdness in getting at the qualities of applicants is remarkable. The would-be soldier who is not all he ought to be found it impossible to run the gauntlet of the Sergeant's keener eyes and keener questions. He is a young man, but has been in the army since boyhood. His term of service expired some weeks ago but he remained with Capt. Sweet in order to help through the rush of recent enlistment.

Capt. Johnson, in charge of the 16th Infantry's recruiting office, has received orders from Col. Thecker, commanding that regiment to continue enlisting, as 350 more men are needed. Capt. Johnson daily expects orders to proceed to Tampa, and when they arrive another officer will be sent to take his place. He is an assistant adjutant-general, by recent appointment.

Capt. Frank M. Rumbold of Battery A is expected in St. Louis Tuesday evening or Wednesday morning. He comes to recruit the 54 men necessary to raise the battery to the proper footing. He will bring with him Corporal A. L. Ulrich and Private Robert Kamm. The latter has 20 days' furlough on account of illness.

Col. G. C. Smith, Deputy Quartermaster, received orders Tuesday to suspend the purchase of mules.

LIFE AT CAMP THOMAS.

A St. Louis Volunteer's Gossipy Letter to the Home Folks.

CHICKAMAUGA PARK, June 4, 1898.

My Dear Sister and Brother—Your kind and always welcome letter received some days ago; glad to know all are well.

Dear sister, how I wish you could take a peep at us now, "the noble defenders of your home and fireside." Our captain and two lieutenants are the only men of our company who have on a coat. Our old clothes were taken from us about three hours ago and our new ones have not been given us yet.

We are going about the camp bareheaded and wrapped in blankets, like a band of Indians. They have been taking snap shots of us, which I think you will see in the Post. Dispatch. Our uniforms are here and we may get them this afternoon; then again we may not.

Of course you read of the drowning of one of our boys the other day. I was at the river when he was found and taken out. It is too bad to have the boy go that way, but I suppose his time had come.

We are pretty well settled down to camp life now and the discipline is getting more strict every day.

By the way, it is just one month to-day since we left St. Louis for the Barracks, and how different it is here. At the Barracks the ladies were everywhere at all times. How we miss them here! They are as scarce as money. We see no one here but soldiers and a few negroes.

The 1st Regiment, Missouri Volunteers, was one of a division reviewed by Gen. Grant yesterday and I am told we made a good showing, but marching as I was I could see but little. Great looks like his father. I hope he will prove as good a General, as I expect to fight under him.

I am not going to say a word about my health and appetite. This is the longest letter I have ever written and you can tell by that I am feeling fine, and I think I deserve some thing for writing so much—a couple of "ice hot biscuits, some tomato soup, a chop, some of your coffee and—and—oh, well, never mind—I will call for it after awhile.

Now is the time I want to thank you for being so kind and thoughtful as to give me that little bag, with pins, needles and thread. You can hardly imagine how handy it is. Never a day passes but I go to it for something. I can sew good now.

Give my kindest regards to inquiring friends and love to Mrs. Weber. Love to you and Harry. Kiss Lezlie for me. Don't let him forget Uncle Tom. Write me soon. Your loving brother, TOM.

Returned to His Regiment.

DEATH ENDED HIS AGONY.

Peter Roderick Swallowed Paris Green and Suffered All Night.

Peter Roderick, laborer, swallowed paris green at his home, 2344 Howard street, Monday night and died at 5 o'clock Tuesday morning.

The dead man leaves a wife and three children. He was 54 years old and had been physically infirm for several months. Ill health is supposed to be the reason for the suicide.

All through the night Roderick suffered intensely and his wife and children remained by his side. Dr. Greer, who lives at 2342 Howard street, next door to the Rodericks, worked with the suicide throughout the night, but could not check the poison.

HERR HEINRICH ZIEGENHEIN, POLITICAL LIGHTNING CHANGE ARTIST

The Mayor of a big city must be in sympathy with his people. All these organizations are good things, because they are made up of good people. Last night I was an A. P. A. To-morrow night I will be a Hibernian, and I am going out to give that ancient order a good talk. Next day I will be a Methodist, and I am going to tell what a fine man Bishop McCabe is.—Mayor Ziegenhein in an interview Saturday, June 4.

When Uncle Henry is himself
He's just a simple German.
Teutonic ways of doing things
His daily thoughts determine.
He drinks a beer, if thirst requires,
And emulates the Kaiser,
Who eats well, sleeps well, drinks well, and
Is eke an early riser.

But when his duty calls him to
The task of entertaining,
For sake of politics, a crowd
Who always are complaining
Of "foreign voters" and the like,
Who steal our rights away, sir,
Our Uncle Henry quickly turns
Into an A. P. A., sir.

But when, upon the other hand,
With soft enunciation,
He seeks to throw the Irish out
A bit of adulation,
The Mayor, with his facile grace,
Would quickly change his station,
But all the Irishmen refuse
To take the transformation.

HAS NO JURISDICTION.

Supreme Court Refuses to Consider the Twelfth District Case.

A special to the Post-Dispatch from Jefferson City says that in the mandamus proceeding of the State ex rel. Michael Foerstel and others and the Twelfth Republican Congressional District of Missouri to compel the Board of Election Commissioners of St. Louis to hold primary elections in the various wards and parts of wards in that city, the Supreme Court in banc holds that it has no jurisdiction in the case, and has ordered the case transferred to the St. Louis Court of Appeals.

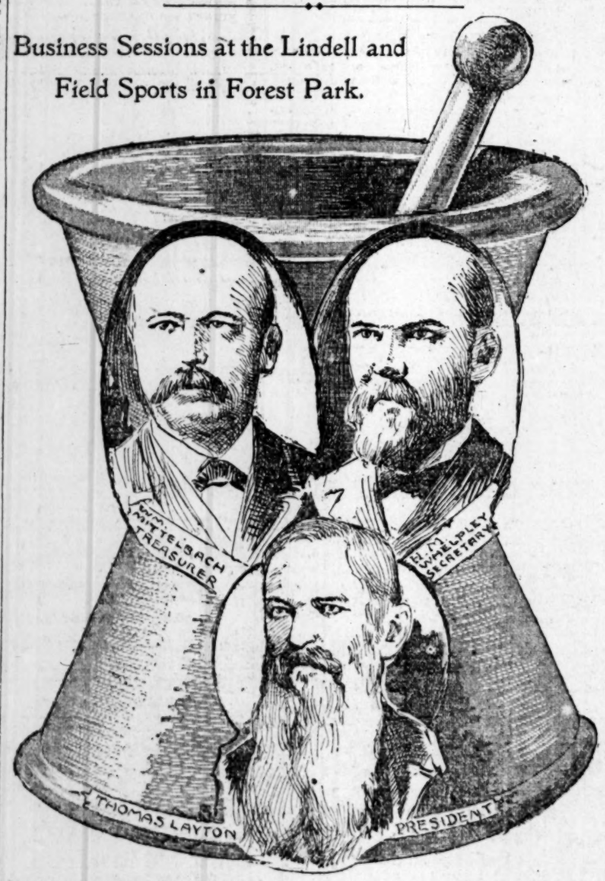

This court, after citing former rulings declaring that a Sheriff is not a State officer and that the members of the Board of Health of the city of St. Louis were not State officers within the purview of section 12 of article 4 of the Constitution, and in such cases an appeal would not lie from a Circuit Court to this court, says it has no jurisdiction over the present appeal. The case of the St. Louis Board of Health, to which reference is made, is that of State ex rel. Horstkotte against said board, 90th Missouri 169.

Coast Into the Klondike.

It was said at one time last month that the Dyea, Alaska, trail showed a furrow five feet wide and several feet deep in the of travel over it, and that men on the way down tucked their oilskin coats about them and slid from the summit as small boys slide down the coping of the stone steps of various buildings, to the distraction of their mothers, who have to do the mending.

MISSOURI DRUGGISTS IN ANNUAL SESSION.

Business Sessions at the Lindell and Field Sports in Forest Park.

A druggist at leisure is a rare sight. On the few occasions when he drops his pill mold and comes from behind his prescription counter he demonstrates that he is a good fellow—a "corking" good fellow, as it were. The bitterness he dispenses does not go into his own system. Missouri druggists shine forth in all their geniality on the occasion of their annual conventions, the 20th of which opened Tuesday at the Lindell Hotel.

A fine body of business men and three breadwinners of the fair sex were present when President Thomas Layton of the Missouri Pharmaceutical Association called the convention together. Towns all over the State were represented and men whose names are prominent in the local drug trade were present.

The druggists have a fine organization. Besides members of the Missouri Association they welcome to their annual meetings members of the National Wholesale Druggists and Proprietors' Association and the Missouri Pharmaceutical Travelers' Association, the latter including salesmen who sell either drugs, cigars or notions to retail druggists. In this way all branches of the trade are represented.

Business and pleasure balance each other at these conventions. The afternoon of each of the five days of the annual meeting will be devoted to relaxation. Splendid daily programmes have been arranged by the Entertainment Committee, of which Charles A. Lips is Chairman, and Anton Fohrell is Vice-Chairman.

These amusement features will take the shape of athletic field sports in Forest Park. The exercises will open each afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Tuesday's programme consists of a running broad jump contest, a potato race for ladies, a needle-threading contest, a cork-throwing match for ladies and baseball throwing.

Tuesday evening there will be a musical entertainment and dance at Forest Park Casino, and an illustrated lecture on Cuba by Prof. J. P. Reymond of Kansas City.

The business session Tuesday opened with a selection by the Paragon Quartette, consisting of Charles E. Blume, B. J. Bloemker, Joseph Saler and Arthur E. Poss.

There were addresses by C. F. D. Meyer, Treasurer; William Mittelbach and President Layton. After the reading of routine reports an adjournment for lunch was taken.

The three lady members present are: Miss Fredericka de Wyl of Jefferson City, Miss Ida Simms of Clayton and Miss Lottie McVey of Kansas City. They are registered pharmacists.

JURY FOR W. J. NOLAN.

Second of the Weinand Murder Suspects About to Go on Trial.

A jury is being selected in Judge Zachritz's court to try the case of W. J. Nolan, who is charged with murder in the first degree. It is expected that the hearing of evidence will begin Wednesday afternoon.

Nolan will b the second of the four men charged with the murder of Jacob Weinand to go to trial. The murder was committed at Weinand's home, on the Bellefontaine road, Dec. 21, last.

The old man was found bound and gagged. He was dead an the house had been ransacked. James Murphy, W. J. Nolan, Wm. Roberts, alias "Dublin," an Fred Snyder were arrested charged with the crime. Murphy was tried in Judge Zachritz's court a few weeks ago and was acquitted. "Dublin" was the principal witness against him, making what he said was a full confession. "Dublin" will also appear against Nolan.

The defendant is an intelligent appearing man, slightly past the middle age. He is below the medium height. He wears a neat blue serge suit and a sack coat. He has low-cut patent leather shoes and black socks. His hair is a silver-gray and is bushy. He has a brown mustache, slightly gray, with shaggy eyebrows that partly conceal a pair of mild blue eyes. Nolan is a man of some education and has traveled much. He was a sailor in the English and American navies.

DAMAGE SUIT DISMISSED.

Miss Riley Said to Have Compromised With the Scullin Line Company.

The $105,000 damage suit of Miss Kathleen Riley against the Union Depot Railroad Co. was dismisse in the Unite States Circuit Court Tuesday on motion of the plaintiff.

It is understood the suit has been compromised. Miss Riley, who is a well-known Broadway milliner, fell from a Scullin line car while it was in motion and was seriously injured.

WHERE TO PASS A VACATION.

Routes and Rates Prepared and Published by the Burlington.

The Burlington Route has issued an interesting circular, profusely illustrated, giving routes and rates for summer tours to the cool resorts of the North and East. Full detailed accounts of the conditions and stop-over privileges of tourist tickets applying by way of Omaha during the Exposition.

With the aid of this circular St. Louisans who contemplate a summer vacation away from home will find no trouble in picking out a trip in keeping with any income.

Dozens of tours are suggested, and each is fully explained, so that the traveler may know exactly what points of interest he will be taken to, how long he may stop at each and the cost of accommodations.

The rates quoted will be in effect from date until Sept. 30. Many of the tours suggested by the road include journeys on the palatial steamers of the great lakes and the St. Lawrence River.

The circulars may be had by application in person or by mail to L. W. Wakeley, General Passenger Agent Burlington Route, at St. Louis.

THIEVES IN A WAGON.

PAID AN EARLY CALL ON SULLIVAN AND LEFT WITH $250 WORTH OF CIGARS.

BROKE DOWN THE FRONT DOOR.

Daring Robbery Committed on North Seventh Street, Opposite the Mercantile Club.

When the gentlemen of leisure who make their headquarters at Henry Sullivan's cigar store, at 314 North Seventh street, across from the Mercantile Club, came down to occupy their accustomed chairs Tuesd ayomrning they were at first led to believe that a Spanish torpedo boat had anchored in the gutter in front and shelled the establishment.

The front door was battered down and the store had been looted. Bundles of laundry—the place is a branch laundry office also—were scattered all over the floor, and the Indian maiden who stands at the door during the day time was rolled to one side with her nose clipped off and four wooden feathers from her head piece in splinters at her feet.

The indignant Mr. Sullivan explained to his friends that it was not a Spanish gunboat that had done the damage, but that thieves, daring, unprincipled thieves, had backed a wagon up to his front door some time before daylight and having rammed down the portals had seized about $250 worth of cigars and tobacco and had driven away.

"I can't see for the life of me," said Sullivan, "how they operated without interruption. This is near a wide awake corner even at night, and for the thieves to have broken in and made such an easy haul while the streets were beginning to get lively with newspaper wagons and carriers and early laborers is a wonder."

The gentlemen of leisure offered to stand guard while Sullivan went to the Four Courts and reported the robbery. The cigar man told Chief Campbell he had no clew to the robbery and detectives were sent out upon a blind trail.

MORE JUNE WEDDINGS.

MLLE. CAROLINE GIRALDON MARRIED QUIETLY TO MR. EDWARD A. FARISH.

MISS O'NEIL TO MR. NOLKER.

Daughter of Gen. Basil Duke Weds a Musician—A Jewish Ceremony at the Columbia Club.

An interesting little wedding took place at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning, when Mlle. Caroline Giraldon and Mr. Edward A. Farish were married at the residence of the bride's mother, Mme. C. Giraldon, 3507 Franklin avenue. The affair was very simple and there were no attendants nor guests save a few intimate friends and relatives. The cozy, artistically furnished parlors were prettily decorated with pink and white roses, palms, ferns and smilax. The bride, who is petite, brunette and altogether charming, looked fascinatingly lovely in a gown of figured white foulard, trimmed in creamy old lace and soft ribbon. With this costume she wore a Frenchy straw hat, trimmed with creamy lace and plumes.

The bride, who has for almost a year

been a teacher of singing at the fashionable conservatorium on Olive street, came here from Denver, Colo., where she had been res ding some years with her mother. She is French—a Parisienne by birth—and is one of the most attractive and charming women ever received in the social and musical worlds of this city. As a musician and vocalist, she has been of more than local fame. In appearance Mlle. Giraldon, or rather, Mrs. Farish, is small, with the daintiest of graceful figures, a crown of soft dark hair and a pair of magnetic dark eyes that change puzzlingly from gray to hazel and from hazel to black, with the varying emotions of their owner.

Her voice in speaking is soft and musical, and as she speaks a bewildering admixture of English and French, the combination is thoroughly delightful. Her class of vocalists at the Conservatorium has been one of the most successful in the city, and as the bright little woman herself says, "What in ze wide world weel zey all do wees out zare pet?"

They will be at home Fridays after June 10 at 3507 Franklin avenue.

NOLKER—O'NEIL.

Pink and White Wedding, Whereat Will Be One Thousand Guests.

Pink and white roses and sweet pea blossoms and quantities of lighted waxen tapers, shedding a mysterious radiance over all, will decorate the beautiful little Cathedral Chapel on Maryland and Newstead avenues at 5 o'clock this (Tuesday) evening in honor of the wedding of Miss Leo O'Neil to Mr. Frederick W. Nolker.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter A. O'Neil of 4507 Lindell boulevard, and one of the prettiest of this season's debutantes. Mr. Nolker is a son of the millionaire brewer, W. F. Nolker, and one of the most popular men in his set.

MISS LEO O'NEIL.

Both young people have scores of friends in the South Side and West End society, and as a consequence nearly a thousand invitations have been issued.

There are to be several novel and beautiful features connected with the ceremony. The bridemaids, Misses Elise Barada and Josephine Lee, and the maid of honor, Miss Laura Nolker, will wear gowns designed by a famous Parisian modiste. The skirts are of rich rose-pink silk poplin, finished with a deep flounce of white chiffon, bound in pink satin ribbon. The waists are made of shirred white chiffon, alternating in bands with rows of Houiton lace insertion, over a decollete lining of pink silk. The blouse fronts of these waists are finished with narrow yokes of tucked poplin, bordered with lace-covered revers. With these they will wear big picture hats of white Neapolitan straw, trimmed with pink and white ostrich plumes and creamy lace.

Little Miss Ellen O'Neil, the bride's sister, will act as ring-bearer, wearing a dainty frock of pink taffeta, covered with frills of white chiffon.

The bride's costume is to be of pearl white bayadere silk, the skirt, with its long court train, finished with narrow ruffles of chiffon. The waist is low and filled in with shirred chiffon, which also partially conceals the rounded, girlish arms. Across the front of the bodice and falling in a graceful cascade down the left side is a ruffle of superb point lace, caught here and there with diamond pins.

The ushers are to be Messrs. James O'Neil, Andrew Barada, Henry Laumeier, Louis Nolker; the groomsmen, Messrs. Wilbur Logeman and Martin Lammert, and the best man, Mr. Fred Lemp.

After a large reception at the O'Neil residence, where the decorations are to be most elaborate, the young couple will leave for a tour of the East.

Doyle—Krone.

Charles Krone, Assistant Circuit Attorney, and Miss Jennie E. Doyle were married Monday evening at their home, 2830 Russell avenue. Rev. P. W. Fauntleroy of the Episcopal Church officiated. Mr. Krone was at his post in Judge Flitcraft's court as usual Tuesday.

O'DELL HIS OWN JUDGE

OHIO MAN DIVORCED HIMSELF AND HE AND HIS WIFE SIGNED THE DECREE.

NOW SHE SUES IN ST. LOUIS.

Defense in the Case Is the Remarkable "Articles of Agreement" They Once Adopted.

A divorce case with peculiar features was set for trial in Judge Spencer's court Tuesday morning.

The suit was brought by Mary A. L. O'Dell against Floyd E. O'Dell of Ada, Hardin County, Ohio. The woman merely charged desertion and non-support. Papers were served on Mr. O'Dell in Ada, and his attorney, E. E. Edge, came to St. Louis to defend the suit. The answer filed in the case is most unusual.

The plaintiff begins by admitting the marriage, and then denies all other charges and sets up as a defense some "articles of agreement," by which he took the law into his own hands and divorced his wife last August with her consent. The articles are printed in full in his answer and are in substance as follows:

This agreement made and entered into on this 11th day of August, A. D., 1897, between Mr. Floyd Everett O'Dell of Ada, Hardin County, O., and Mrs. Mollie A. O'Dell (formerly Mollie A. Engle of Ada, Hardin County, O., witnesseth:

That on the 9th day of June A. D., 1897, on account of serious and repeated aggressions committed previously by the said Mollie A. O'Dell the same not herein mentioned for good reasons to society), Mr. Floyd E. O'Dell did then leave and forever disband Mrs. Mollie A. O'Dell as his true and lawful wife.

The third clause says he will support her no longer and that she is disbanded forever. The last clause gives the wife a lot of household furniture, the marriage certificate and $25 in money, in return for which she quitclaims all dower interest of every kind she may have in any of his property or possessions.

The agreement is signed by both the husband and wife and duly witnessed by two witnesses.

In conclusion O'Dell asks that the plaintiff be forever enjoined from prosecuting any claims against him for support or interest in his property.

DEATH WATCH OVER THOMPSON

"They'll Get Me," Says the Condemned Murderer of Cunningham.

George Thompson, condemned to die for the murder of Joseph Cunningham, is now under surveillance of a death watch. Thompson's execution is set for Thursday, but as told in Monday's Post-Dispatch, the Supreme Court mandate has not yet been received, and until it reaches the Clerk of the Criminal Court no death warrant can be issued.

Deputy Sheriff Adolph Troll is in Jefferson City and it is probable that the mandate may be given to him there. In the routine process the mandate of the Supreme Court of the United States goes first to the State Supreme Court at Jefferson City and from there is turned over to the St. Louis authorities.

The death watch was placed over Thompson Tuesday morning, in relays of twos, alternating every six hours.

Thompson is apparently resigned to his fate.

"They'll get me," is a favorite expression of the doomed man.

If the mandate arrives the execution will take place Thursday.

SUPPRESSING THE TUNNEL.

City Counselor Schnurmacher Has an Official Opinion Ready.

City Counselor Schnurmacher will submit to the City Council, Tuesday evening, an opinion on the tunnel question.

Mr. Thuner of the City Council thinks the St. Louis tunnel is wholly vile and should be suppressed. A few months ago he introduced a resolution calling on the City Counselor to try to find in the law books some warrant for suppressing it. Under frequent goadings from Mr. Thuner, who yearns to again occupy the public eye, Mr. Schurmacher has completed his task.

MATTHEWS—DUKE.

Union of Musicians Known Socially and Artistically in This City.

Another musical wedding of great interest to the entire country was that of Miss Currie Duke of Louisville to Mr. Wilber Matthews of New York City at 7 o'clock Monday evening at the bride's home in Kentucky.

Miss Duke has been, since her debut into society, the prime boast and toast of the entire Bluegrass State.

In addition to being a beautiful girl with a long line of notable ancestors, Miss Duke has been a violiniste, an artiste, whom the entire country has recognized and applauded. As soloist with the Sousa Band she has been heard numbers of times here in St. Louis, where she is also much admired in a social way. Her father is Gen. Basil W. Duke, late of the Confederate army, and her mother's brother was John Morgan, the famous cavalryman.

The fair young bride was a pupil of the renowned Joachim in Berlin, where she met Mr. Matthews, who is also a musician of no little ability.

SCHOTT—LORCH.

Jewish Wedding Ceremony in the Rooms of the Columbia Club.

The Columbia Club on Lindell boulevard was the scene Monday night at 7 o'clock of the wedding of Miss Emma Lorch, niece of Mr. J. D. Goldman of 4129 Laclede avenue, to Mr. Henry Schott of Newport, Ark.

The ceremony took place in the ladies' parlor, which was decorated with American Beauty roses, palms and vines. The ceremony was performed in the presence of about 75 guests, by Rabbi Sale. Miss May Goldman acted as maid of honor and Miss Florence Goldman, ring-bearer. The wedding was followed by a banquet and later by a reception, to which about 250 guests were bidden.

Mr. Schott and his bride have gone for an Eastern trip before journeying to their home in Newport.

The City Wants Coal.

Water Commissioner Holman was authorized by the Board of Public Improvements Tuesday to advertise for 800,000 bushels of coal for Bissell's Point, 200,000 for Baden and 200,000 for the Chain of Rocks. It is estimated that these amounts will be needed to pump water for the city of St. Louis next year.

Yesterday's Games.

St. Louis, 6; Baltimore, 3.
Washington, 8; Louisville, 5.

Chicago, 15; Brooklyn, 2.
Boston, 9-0; Cleveland, 5-2.

The St. Louis Browns are in the game again.

Yesterday they took another game from the Baltimores.

The Browns did not win this game because their opponents made errors, but because they outplayed the Orioles at every point of the game.

Hughes, the Orioles' crack pitcher, who has been shutting teams out without a hit, was easy for the St. Louis Club.

Hughey, the Browns' mascot pitcher, pitched in his old form.

The Browns were strengthened by Germany Smith, who played short in place of Russ Hall, and should they play ball like they did yesterday they will win from the Phillies and Chicagos.

The Browns started off well yesterday. In the first inning they batted out four runs and in the sixth Germany Smith made a long hit, scoring two more.

The Orioles made one run in the first, second and third innings. They were unable to score after the third. The Browns fielded so well that the Baltimores thought they were playing Boston for the championship and could do nothing but sit on the bench and look at the good work.

The St. Louis boys now have a good chance to pass Louisville and Washington on this trip away from home and when they arrive here they may be safely located in tenth place.

Brooklyn has released the veteran manager, Billy Barnie, and Center Fielder Griffin of that team will take his place. Barnie has managed the Brooklyns the past two years and handled them in fine shape.

Last Sunday afternoon Kid McCoy umpired a game of baseball between the All-Collegiate nine and Colored Giants on the Jasper field at New York. The Kid was accompanied by his wife and was introduced to the great crowd present by Coacher Harry Ely. McCoy was roundly cheered. He made a good umpire and rendered four very close decisions that met with hearty approval of most of the spectators. The college boys kept up their unbeaten record by winning the game by a score of 4 to 3. After the game there was a run for McCoy, who was starting for the grand stand to join his wife. The college boys led and the spectators joined them. McCoy shook hands with them for at least a half hour, then, in response to shouts for a speech, had a few words to say. He finally broke away, but a big crowd followed him from One Hundred and Thirty-seventh street to One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, where he took an elevated train for Fiftieth street and the Hotel Cadillac, where he is stopping.

THE BELLEVILLE CLERKS.

The Old Team Again on Deck and Ready to Meet the Sports.

The Belleville Clerks have reorganized and now there is a Richmond in the field that will give the Sports a run for their money. The reorganized Clerks will have that great hustler Charley Wilson to coach them, and their playing team will include Bob Talbot and Eddie Feehan, pitchers, Tom Clifford catcher, Billy Erman first base, Tom Morrison second base and captain, Arthur Granville third base, Percy Griffin short stop, Ed Pabst left field, George Winters center field, Charles Barrett right field. It is the intention of the Clerks to immediately challenge the Sports to play them a series of games for the local championship.

Caught on the Fly.

Well! Well! Well!

Philadelphia to-day.

Hughey pitched a good game.

The Browns have won another.

Hall has been placed on the bench.

The Phillies have lost their chance for the first division.

The Browns play Philadelphia to-day, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Now, if the Browns could only get Tom Brown to play at right field for them they would be fixed.

Tommy Burns hasn't made pennant winners of the Chicagos, and fickle cranks are already yelling for Papa Anson to come back.

President Hart of the Chicago Club has preferred charges of incompetency and malicious abuse of power against Umpires Lynch and Connolly.

When Joyce struck Beckley in the head with the ball at New York the players appealed to Umpire Andrews to take some action, but he refused to do anything. Umpire Emslie then ran down to first from his position behind the plate and ordered Joyce to leave the field.

Though the Trolley Dodgers have batted their way into the first division, they are leaden of foot, and stand in danger of losing many a game of ball on, or rather between, the bases. "The Dodgers are beef to the hoof, like Rory O'More's Mullegan heifer, and that's why they are likely to be crowded out on double plays," says Earl Wagner.

Seymour Is Failing.

"Si" Seymour is losing much of his natural "motion" in delivering the ball, and it isn't an improvement. His efforts at the spectacular do not add to the effectiveness of his hypnotic influence. His style of delivery last year was far better, though perhaps not so elaborate as his Delsartean movements of this season's vintage.

Eastern League Games.

Toronto, 7; Springfield, 0.
Rochester, 7; Wilkesbarre, 2.
Buffalo, 2; Syracuse, 1.
Montreal, 9; Providence, 11.

"Oh, That Was Easy!"

GO SIGN TOM BROWN.

THAT IS RIGHT FIELDER'S ADVICE TO THE ST. LOUIS CLUB MANAGERS.

COULD TAKE TURNER'S PLACE.

Then the Browns Would Have an In and Outfield That Would Make All Comers Play Ball.

This morning a communication was received by the Post-Dispatch which is certainly worth producing in full. It reads:

ST. LOUIS, June 7.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I see by morning papers that Washington has released Tom Brown. Also that the Browns have signed and are playing Germany Smith at short field. The fact that they won yesterday from Baltimore shows that Smith's presence strengthened the team. Now that the Browns have strengthened at short, what is the matter with their going a step further and signing Tom Brown to play in Turner's place at right field? The Browns have proven themselves a good team this year in all but two places. They have been lamentably weak at short and right fields, and they have lost more than half their games by the weak work of the men filling those positions. Now that the Browns have signed a good man for short field they have but one more move to make before being right in it, and that is to sign Tom Brown to cover their right field. Brown is one of the greatest players in the League. He is a heavy batsman, a magnificent fielder and a speedy base runner. He was king pin of the Washington team until Jack Doyle stepped in there and took his place as captain and manager of the nine. With Brown to lead the batting for St. Louis, and Dowd, Cross, Clements, Harley and Decker to follow him up the Browns would have five corking hitters to lead off who would worry the best pitcher in the land. Let the Browns sign Brown and with Smith at short field they will surely give a good account of themselves from this forward. RIGHT FIELDER.

Questions Answered.

Mrs. L. E. S.—In the game of 21 all hands must make their wagers before getting their second card.

A Reader.—To be a jockey a boy should be small in stature and possessed of plenty of nerve. Those are the first requirements. No boy can secure a mount in a race without having first had some experience riding and exercising horses. If you want to learn to be a jockey first secure a position as exercise boy with some stable that is in need of the services of such a person.

An Ovation for Little Joe.

Quinn, the best utility man in the country, was given an ovation by his friends in the stands when he took McGraw's place on third base in the seventh inning in yesterday's game. He did not have an opportunity to do any fielding, but he hit safely the only time he went to bat.—Baltimore Sun.

Michael and McDuffee.

The manager of Jimmy Michael, in speaking of the coming race between his charge and Eddie McDuffee of the National Track Team Association, states that even though his charge is defeated by McDuffee it will be no more of a disgrace than to be defeated by Michael. McDuffee, he thinks, is one of the greatest 15-mile riders in the world.

Croker's Wantage Belle Wins.

LONDON, June 7.—At the first day's racing of the Brighton spring meeting to-day, Richard Croker's b. f. Wantage Belle, by Loyalist, out of Wanda, beat Mr. Barrow's b. g. London in the race for the Hassocks Plate. This race is of 200 sovereigns for 2-year-olds, distance about five furlongs. Wantage Belle was objected to for crossing the track, but the objection was afterwards withdrawn. London fell during the race, yet only a head separated the two horses at the finish.

RUHLIN AND SHARKEY.

A MATCH BETWEEN THESE TWO HEAVYWEIGHTS IS ARRANGED AT LAST.

M'COY AND CHOYNSKI MILL.

The Kid Gets Hurt in a Bicycle Accident and His Meeting With the Californian Has Been Postponed.

Gus Ruhlin, recently defeated by Kid McCoy, and Tom Sharkey, the sailor boy just beaten by Jeffries, will meet each other in the ring of the New York Athletic Club at Coney Island, two weeks from to-morrow night.

They yesterday signed articles to meet on that date and according to them they will go 25 rounds to a decision and for a good-sized purse. Ruhlin and Sharkey are both big fellows and their battle will be the most important held in the vicinity of New York since the little affair between Goddard and Maher.

Kid McCoy has hurt his right leg so badly that his fight with Joe Choynski, which was to have taken place in New York on June 27, has been postponed. McCoy will meet Choynski's representatives in New York this morning and they will then agree on another date. McCoy's right leg is injured near the groin. He received this hurt about a week ago in dismounting from a bicycle. It only bothers him when he suddenly bears weight upon it or makes a quick turn. Should he meet Joe Choynski at Tom O'Rourke's Club in New York on the date set, the 27th inst., the Kid would have to favor not only his good left fist, which would certainly place him at a disadvantage with such an experienced fighter as Choynski, but also be tender on his right leg. McCoy nor none of the Eastern sports take any stock in the story that Choynski was a sufferer from blood poisoning a few months ago. On the contrary Choynski is known to be in most excellent condition, and it is also known that he has been preparing with great care to meet McCoy for weeks before they were matched. McCoy says there are but four men he cares to meet.

Jack Stelzner, the St. Louis boy who has been out on the coast for some time, has challenged Dan Creedon. Jack met Henry Baker recently on the Pacific coast and lost on a foul. Of that mill Stelzner says: "I clearly bested Baker and had knocked him down, after punching him all over the ring, in the fifth round, when the referee stopped the battle, saying that I had fouled Baker by hitting him in the breakaway. Baker had repeatedly hit me in clinches, but I had both hands free and was hitting cleanly. The referee had bet on Baker, I afterwards heard, and he deliberately robbed me of the decision, as when he stopped the fight Baker could hardly stand on his feet and it was 2 to 1 that he would not last the round out. Baker is the fellow who nearly knocked Creedon out at Maspeth, Long Island, in October, 1896. In the first round he knocked Dan down and he was lying flat on his back when the bell rang after the referee had counted nine. Creedon kept out of harm's way for the remaining 19 rounds and was given the decision on points. It took Jeffries nine rounds to defeat Baker, and the latter knocked him down once. I floored Baker with my left in the fifth. I am anxious to get on a match with Creedon and would like for some St. Louis club to match us. I would agree on almost any conditions. I have had 10 battles on the coast and never lost any, but was robbed of one."

Eddie Santry, the Chicago bantam of whom great things were expected, was defeated by George Dixon, the colored whirlwind, at New York last night. Santry went the agreed on 20 rounds but the referee decided that Dixon had scored the most points and gave him the fight.

Kid McCoy and Bob Fitzsimmons ran into each other in the Bartholdi Hotel at New York on Sunday night, shook hands, exchanged courtesies and Fitz promised to give McCoy a match some time in the very near future.

George Dixon and Ben Jordan will meet before the Lenox Athletic Club of New York on June 27. That was the date originally set for the McCoy-Choynski mill.

Tom O'Rourke has blacklisted Ben Jordan and Solly Smith at the Lenox Athletic Club, New York, because they refused to live up to their contracts in signing to fight George Dixon with Charley White as referee.

Choynski has posted his $500 forfeit for his fight with McCoy June 27 in New York. He says that he expects to win, but realizes that he has a strong and clever antagonist. Choynski is in excellent condition and needs little more training. He is preparing for the coming battle on the local boulevards. The bicycle enters into his preliminary work.

GOLDEN ROD STAKE.

IT WILL BE RUN FOR ON THURSDAY OVER THE FAIR GROUNDS COURSE.

SATURDAY THE MERAMEC.

Fervor, Laureate, Damocles, The Elector and Other Good Ones Will Start in It.

The Golden Rod, the next stake event at the Fair Grounds, will be run on Thursday.

It is a race at seven furlongs, for 3-year-olds that have never won a stake of over $1500.

The probable starters at this writing are Etholin, Forbush, Libation, Crockett, Trombone, McAlbert, Xalissa, Found, Our Chance, Gibraltar, Sir Rolla, Loving Cup, Imperious, Ed Farrell and others.

Saturday, the Meramec, a selling sweepstakes for 3-year-olds and upwards, at a mile, will be disposed of.

Such good horses as Fervor, Laureate, Damocles, The Elector, Nic Carter and Harry Duke will start in this.

Jockey Tommy Burns was missing from the Fair Grounds yesterday. He was at the Harlem track at Chicago then, where he went to ride Pirate Judge and Timemaker for the Schorr stable. He had bad luck, finishing fourth on both horses.

Mr. Cassidy gave Dupee, the little colored jockey, $500 for riding and winning on his horse, What-er-Lou, in the Club Members' Handicap on Saturday.

Joe Rose, the well-known California bookmaker, has arrived here and from this forward he will be found doing business in the Fair Grounds ring.

The summer meeting at Latonia will begin Thursday next and continue 27 racing days. The historic Latonia Derby, that will be the feature of the opening day, is one of the richest stakes of the year. About all the best three-year-olds are eligible. Plaudit seems to outclass all the rest, but the race is at one mile and a half, a quarter further than this great colt has gone. He has, of course, the top weight, 127 pounds, and it is not unlikely that there will be three or four good colts, with weight off, to take a try at him next Thursday.

The bookmakers and their clerks doing business at the Fair Grounds will have a summer night's outing at Koerner's Park next Saturday night. The arrangements for the outing are in charge of Dave Nelson, Jim Davis, Fatty Hamilton and Prof. Crow. On this occasion the profession will offer up a discourse telling the "lambs" just how to beat the books. Lew Hawkins on the occasion will also be to the front with a parody, entitled, "I can never pick the winner."

Coley Ulman was on Full Hand yesterday at 50 and 60 to 1. On the long shot Coley cleared up several hundred dollars.

Han d'Or, the great son of Hanover-Fleur d'Or, ran a great race at Oakley yesterday, going the mile and winning easily in 1:41½.

Bowling Brook, the great Eastern colt, who recently defeated Hamburg, pulled up lame in a race at Sheepshead Bay yesterday. He limped so badly that those who saw him predicted that he would never face the flag again.

Fonsavannah will be here to start in the St. Louis Derby and the crack lightweight Dick Clawson will be here to ride him.

Ed Brown ("Brown Dick"), who developed Plaudit, says of the colt: "He is a better horse than his sire, Himyar, was. He is fast and lazy; won't do any more than you can make him do; is the best feeder and traveler you ever saw, and knows more than most men. They said he couldn't go a derby route because he was a Himyar, did they? Well, he can go as far as anybody's horse can. He can go out on the track and run a horse's eye out, and it don't make any difference to him whether he beats the horse the first eighth of a mile or the last eighth of three miles. He can beat him anywhere he likes." Pat Dunne supplemented this with: "A lot of people say that Lieber Karl is no good because Plaudit beat him. Lieber Karl is just as good as he ever was. He can't beat Plaudit, but can beat all the horses he could beat before he met Plaudit."

The Post-Dispatch is indebted to Mike Murphy, of Broadway and Chestnut street, for the official form tables of all American race tracks during the past twenty-six days. The charts cover all racing on regulation tracks for the month of May. Mr. Murphy is the regular agent in St. Louis for the Racing Form.

W. M. Rogers has purchased Elsie Bramble from W. H. Roller. The price is said to have been $400 and the first purse.

Andy Covington has purchased Jackanapes. C. Reiff, who owned him, wanted $2000, but Covington was only willing to pull out $1500. Finally a compromise was reached and the gelding sold for $1750. Jackanapes is entered in the St. Louis Derby.

Little Ballplayers.

The Rosedales defeated the Florissant Browns Sunday at Florissant, Mo., by the score of 10 to 4. The feature of the game was the battery work of N. Lamb and J. Reed. The Rosedales would like to arrange games with first-class teams in or out of the city. Address Joseph McGrath, 1061 De Hodiamont.

The Monarch Rubber Company's team defeated the DeSoto Facts at DeSoto, Mo., Sunday. It was the most exciting game played at DeSoto this season. The features of the game were the pitching of Stockho and Walsh of the Monarchs and the catching of Ryan. Palattie pitched a star game for DeSoto.

The Resolutes of the Christian Brothers' College defeated the Ack Juniors Sunday on the College campus by a score of 21 to 18. The principal feature of the game was the hard batting on the part of the college team. The Resolutes would like to hear from strong teams in the 16-year-old class. Address Emil Rosenberg, Christian Brothers' College.

The Toddys defeated the Ely-Walkers by the score of 7 to 6 sunday morning at the A. B. C. Park. They would like to hear from all clubs in the 16-year-old class. The Gleasons, Arlingtons, J. S. Wolfs and Early Stars preferred. Address H. Ringkamp, 2001 South Broadway.

EMERGENCY DOCTORS.

Physicians May Be Designated for the Police Stations.

Many physicians in St. Louis have suggested to the members of the Police Board the advisability of securing the services of one physician in each police district to care for emergency cases taken to the station houses.

The movement grew out of several cases which have occurred recently in which persons arrested have needed the immediate attention of physicians and have suffered in consequence of having been compelled to remain unattended until the Dispensary could be reached.

In one instance, that of young Gervais Robinson, had the police had a physician at their command immediately, the young man's life might have been saved.

There are many cases that turn up at the police stations which the police are at a loss to know how to deal with. Men are arrested as common drunks who show symptoms of something more serious. The police are at a loss to know what to do. There is a chance that if the prisoner is sent to the dispensary he may die before he reaches there. Forest Park is becoming a favorite among would-be suicides. The trip from the park to the dispensary or hospital is a long one.

The Police Commissioners are willing to introduce the reform, but they are hampered by the lack of funds. Police Commissioner Kingsland admitted that the question was being considered.

"We would be glad to have the services of doctors in each district," he said, "but we cannot carry out the reform without money. Several physicians have suggested it to us, and we could readily see the frequent need for such medical aid. Many cases turn up at the stations which puzzle the police, and in which a doctor would be able instantly to remove all doubt. I think many lives could be saved by this reform. But we cannot put it into effect without money. If the Municipal Assembly will increase the police appropriation sufficiently to permit of the employment of the physicians the police board will be glad to carry out the suggestion."

Considering the Amendments.

A number of real estate men met Monday afternoon to consider the proposed charter amendments. President McMath of the Board of Public Improvements was there to answer questions. THE MARKETS.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.

The market opened lower on futures all around, but after the opening prices were generally sustained and the tendency was a fractional advance on opening prices.

Cables continued bearish, but there was a feeling of uncertainty as to whether bottom had been touched or not. Private cables were to the effect that it was a time to buy for a turn, but with excellent crop reports and continued good weather, there was no big trading at present prices.

A private wire from Topeka, Kan., says that the general average condition of the wheat crop is 103 and that winter wheat prospects are far ahead of any similar period in the history of the State. No injury reported thus far by insects. Cool, wet weather, while favorable to winter wheat, is unfavorable to corn. Much planting and replanting is being done. For past ten days the situation is much improved. Corn crop condition averages 79 per cent.

Paris close: Wheat, 45@50 cms lower; flour, 1 franc lower.

Antwerp—Wheat, 50@75c lower.

Broomhall cables his belief that during June the world's visible supply of wheat will decrease 30,000,000 bu.

A Western elevator manager estimates Kansas' wheat crop at 85,000,000 bu and that of Indian Territory and Oklahoma at 45,000,000 bu.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The Kansas June crop report and the demoralized Liverpool market depressed wheat to-day. Liverpool opening cables were 3⅝d lower. The Kansas State crop report is a record-breaker, putting the winter wheat condition at 103. The weather is very favorable throughout the wheat regions for the growing crop and the Government report Thursday is expected to make the general condition around 90.

There was some buying of Sept. by Leiter at the decline, causing a tendency to better prices.

Chicago received 49 cars, against 19 last year. Northwest receipts were light—116 cars, compared with 212 the corresponding week a year ago.

July opened 2¼@2⅝c lower at 85½@86c, sold up to 87c, then declined to 86½c.

Sept. began 1@1¼c down at 74⅜@75c, advanced to 75⅜@½c, then weakened to 75⅛@75¼c.

Weak cables, the break in wheat and liquidation by longs created a weak feeling in corn. Shorts were good buyers. July started ⅝@¼c lower at 31⅛@31¼c, rose to 31⅝@31¾c, then sold off to 31½@31⅝c.

Oats followed corn. July began ⅝@¾c lower at 22½@23c, rose to 23⅛@23¼c, then declined to 22⅞@23c.

Selling by packers, inspired by the decided weakness in grain and a weak market for live hogs, was the weakening influence in provisions. July pork opened 17½@25c lower at $10.10@10.17½, sold up to $10.27, then declined to $10.20. July lard started 5c down at $5.90, rose to $5.95, then fell to $5.85. July ribs began 5c off at $5.60, advanced to $5.62½, then off to $5.57½.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, June 7.—Changes were of very small proportions either way at the opening of the Stock Exchange to-day, with the gains in the majority. Sugar and a few internationals were off a shade. Kansas & Texas preferred, with a decline of 1¼, was the only stock to show any conspicuous movement. The trading, however, was very animated and large offerings were quickly absorbed.

The local specialties, including Metropolitan Street Railway, Brooklyn Transit and Consolidated Gas, rose from 1 to 4 points. St. Louis Southwestern preferred also advanced sharply. The general list after a period of hesitancy ran off rapidly on free offerings of Sugar, People's Gas, the Grangers and the Pacifics. Offerings were unusually heavy all around, and concessions ranged up to 1½ per cent in Union Pacific preferred, many leading stocks losing as much as a point. Some portions of the list held firm and prices showed a hardening tendency by the end of the hour.

Speculation was largely centered in the low-priced shares. Enormous blocks of Brooklyn Transit were taken, advancing the price over 2 points. Reading, Erie first preferred and some of the low-priced Southwesterns were also in good demand. The grangers were neglected and did not move with the general list. Internationals recovered in spots, but the movement in this group was held back by large sales for arbitrage account. New York Air Brake broke 4 points. Sales of stocks to noon, 231,262 shares.

Prices of bonds suffered somewhat from realizations.

CAUGHT A HORSETHIEF

EAST SIDE FARMERS RODE TWENTY-TWO MILES IN HOT PURSUIT.

THEY CAPTURED JESSE DARK.

The Fugitive Had Stolen Two Fine Horses and a Good Buggy From Farmer Perchon.

A party of farmers, living near East St. Louis, rode 22 miles Tuesday morning in pursuit of a horsethief. They landed their man at a farmhouse seven miles east of Collinsville, Ill., and brought him back to East St. Louis.

Jesse Dark is the name the alleged horsethief gives. He is 25 years old and says his home is in Pine Grove, Colo. He reached East St. Louis Sunday and had no money nor employment.

F. C. Perchon is a farmer living in the suburbs. He has fine horses. Monday night Dark visited Farmer Perchon's place. He saw two horses that suited him. He hitched one to a good buggy belonging to Mr. Perchon and tied another behind the buggy. He got off without being seen.

Early Tuesday morning Perchon discovered his loss. Then he remembered seeing Dark around the place. He told half a dozen of his farmer friends. They made inquiries and soon got trail of their man. They rode horseback, and at 10 o'clock overtook Dark. He was trying to trade one of the horses when he was caught. He offered no resistance and made no denial. He is locked up at East St. Louis.

BOTH SIDES CLAIMING.

Valliant and Marshall Get a Split Delegation From Greene County.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., June 7.—The Greene County Democratic Convention, to elect 13 delegates to the State Convention, was held in this city yesterday and was hotly contested. The main fight was between Marshall and Valliant for Supreme Court Judge, and the result is an uninstructed delegation, which will be divided in the convention. It is said by the Valliant men that they have nine of the 13 delegates, but the Marshall men claim nearly an equal division, and it will probably require a ballot to tell just how they do stand.

Both Judges Valliant and Marshal were present and addressed the convention.

The report of the Committee on Resolutions indorsed the Chicago platform, the free and unlimited coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, W. J. Bryan for President in 1900, and further that "we heartily indorse the present Democratic administration of the State, which is characterized by prudence, honesty and economy, and conducted in the interest of the whole people of our great commonwealth, regardless of party class."

The convention also indorsed Sam Cook for re-election and indorsed W. T. Carrington for State Superintendent of Schools.

TERROR IN HOP ALLEY.

A Visit From "Bullet" Dwyer Made Jim Loy an Invalid.

"Bullet" Dwyer, well known in the slum districts, went through Hop Alley Monday night, creating terror among the Chinamen.

Jim Loy happened to cross "Bullet's" path, and fell a victim. Dwyer threw the oriental to the ground, beat him with his fists and kicked him. The Chinaman is in the City Hospital and Dwyer is locked up at the Four Courts.

RODENBERG IS NAMED.

He Is the Republican Choice for Congress in the 21st (Ill.) District.

William A. Rodenberg, of East St. Louis, was given the Republican nomination for Congress at the Twenty-first Illinois district convention at Nashville, Ill., this afternoon. The choice was made on the first ballot.

"Charlie" Salisbury's Benefit.

Arrangements have been perfected to tender Manager Charles P. Salisbury of the Columbia Theater a testimonial benefit next Monday afternoon and evening. His benefit will be the last, but by no means the least, of the season. By his courteous treatment and his never flagging solicitude for the welfare of the patrons of his handsome playhouse, Mr. Salisbury has endeared himself to them, and they will no doubt show their appreciation on the occasion of his benefit. A splendid programme will be presented, including Lawrence Hanley, Ralph Stuart, Arthur Mackley, Tim Murphy, in his original specialty; Miss Jeanne Franko, violin virtuoso; Maxwell and Simpson, illustrated song artists; Fred Brown, ragtime dancer, and a number of others. The usual Columbia prices will prevail and reserved seats are now on sale.

SOLOMON OUTDONE.

JUDGE WITHROW'S REMARKABLE DECISION IN THE PIRIE DIVORCE CASE.

CHILDREN TO BE EXCHANGED.

Each Will Have the Custody of One Son for One Year, the Boys to Be Transferred Annually.

Solomon was discounted by Judge Withrow, Tuesday, in the Circuit Court, when he decided, in the Pirie divorce case, that the father and mother should each have the custody of one of the children for one year, and at the end of each year the parents should exchange the children for custody during the ensuing year, the father meanwhile paying the mother $75 a month alimony.

About 40 members of the Women's Humane Society, in court on a contested election case, were allowed to listen to the testimony in the swell divorce case before their own suits came to trial.

The plaintiff in the case was Mrs. Lillie H. Pirie, daughter of the late O. D. Garrison, who was suing her husband, Andrew H. Pirie, for divorce, on the grounds of neglect and coldness.

Mrs. Pirie was dressed in a black gown, with a white cravat and white cuff to relieve the sombre costume.

Mr. Pirie was represented by his attorney, George D. Reynolds, but was not in court himself.

Mrs. Pirie took the stand and testified that about two years ago her husband began to show a coldness towards her and to avoid her in the ordinary daily household relations. He would come home, she said, and take his books and cigars and lock himself in the upper rooms of the house, repeatedly refusing to come to meals, and when he did consent to do so it was only on the most formal and distant terms. He gradually adopted the term of "Madam" and discarded her name of Lillie.

The main line of testimony was to the effect that Mr. Pirie had grown to dislike his wife and refused to have anything to do with her.

Judge Withrow granted her a divorce, $75 a month alimony and an interchanging custody of the two sons.

Until the 1st of September the mother may have the care of aged 13, while the father will care for Hudson Pirie, aged 7 years. With the opening of school Oliver will be transferred to his father and Hudson revert to the mother for one year. After that the children are to be annually exchanged.

UNIQUE DIVORCE DEFENSE.

Fahrenkrog Files a Paper That He Is Both "Steddy" and Sober.

Johanna Fahrenkrog some time ago filed a suit for divorce from her husband, Christian Fahrenkrog, whose address was given as 4345 Pleasant street. She accused him of every indignity imaginable except unfaithfulness. She said he was a drunkard and a brute and related a long tale of beating and other humiliations. She said he never gave her money except some times a dollar or so when he was generously drunk.

A timid-looking old man who said he was a friend of Fahrenkrog's ventured into the Circuit Clerk's office Tuesday morning with a letter addressed to the judges of the Circuit Court. He said that Mrs. Fahrenkrog was a terrible woman and that he would not like to have her know he was taking any hand in the matter at all.

The letter has been filed with the suit as an answer and is as follows:

"I beg pardon by appealing to your honor as defendant Christian Fahenkrog. Plaintiff Johanna Fahrenkrog. That I as defendant have been wrongfully and falsely accused.

"1. Addicted to habitual drunkenness from one to ten years.

"2. Cruel and barbarous treatment, kicked, bruised and seriously wounded plaintiff and uplifted a knife with intention to kill, and

"3. Calling plaintiffs false names, squanders his money in saloons, neglects his family.

"We the undersigned citizens of St. Louis will prove that the defendant Christian Fahrenkrog is a "steady," industrious working man, who always with pride took care of his family and their support."

Then the paper is signed by four citizens of North St. Louis.

SECOND DAY OF THE BIG SALE.

Record-Breaking Prices Are Packing May, Stern & Co.'s Store.

Tuesday was the second day of the great sale of furniture at special prices at the establishment of May, Stern & Co.

The immense store of six floors at Eleventh and Olive streets is packed with the stock purchased from the Mattoon Furniture Co. of Sheboygan, Mich., at a figure that enables the St. Louis concern to supply its patrons with the latest articles in the market at bargain prices.

The stock is complete in every respect and embraces every article that may properly be classed under the head of residence furniture. Monday, the opening day of the sale, was a record-breaker in the amount of business transacted by May, Stern & Co. and Tuesday's sales went a few notches higher.

The sale will continue all week. While the prices that prevail during the clearing out would seem to preclude any further offering by the firm, the generous installment method of paying for goods is allowed to continue in operation, and all goods purchased during the sale may be had on the same terms allowed at other times.

The Royal is the highest grade baking powder known. Actual tests show it goes one-third further than any other brand.

M. W. ALEXANDER DEAD

HELD PROMINENT POSITIONS.

Funeral of Prof. William Deutsch, George F. Pickel, Capt. Kriedler and Col. Lindsay.

The kindly face of the proprietor will be missed by patrons of Alexander's drug store, 518 Olive street. M. W. Alexander died at 6 o'clock Monday evening at his home, 3965 Westminster place, of heart disease.

His death was sudden. The only warning of it came at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon, when he had a sinking spell at the store. He was subject to these attacks and nothing unusual was thought of it.

His wife was in the store soon after and persuaded him to go home. The afternoon passed without incident. The rest of the family returned home at 5:30, and all were gathered in the sitting room. Mrs. Alexander suggested that the verandah would be cooler. Mr. Alexander said he felt too weak.

M. W. ALEXANDER.

"I think I am going to faint again," he said.

His head fell forward and he became unconscious.

Dr. Wheeler H. Bond, the nearest physician, was called, but could not rouse the patient. Before the family physician, Dr. A. V. L. Brokaw, arrived, Mr. Alexander was dead.

Mr. Alexander had suffered some time from valvular disease of the heart.

The deceased was born in Philadelphia 65 years ago and after graduating from the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy, came to St. Louis. He attached himself to the wholesale drug firm of Bacon, Hyde & Co., and while with them traveled over Missouri on horseback.

Not long after settling here he began business for himself. His store was at Fourth and Market streets. In 1878 he opened another store at Broadway and Olive streets. A fire destroyed this store, but he pluckily went on, all the while continuing the old business at Fourth and Market streets. In 1892 he bought out the Mellier Drug Co., at 518 Olive street. During last January he was forced into a temporary assignment, but the business was continued under the name of the Alexander Drug Store Co.

Mr. Alexander was successively president of the American Pharmaceutical Association and the Missouri Pharmaceutical Association and served several years on the State Board of Pharmacy.

In 1857 he married Miss Clara V. Lang of St. Louis, who, with four children, mourns his death. The children are Miss Ada E. Alexander, Clarence L. Alexander, Guy R. Alexander and Miss Bertha C. Alexander. His brother, L. E. Alexander, is a real estate agent of this city, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Laura V. Alexander, the widow of Frank R. Alexander, also resides in St. Louis. Other near relatives are three sisters in Philadelphia, Mrs. John G. Whiteman, Mrs. John Rahn and Miss Fanny Alexander, and one sister in Rushville, Ill., Mrs. Henry A. Chadsy. He also had an aunt in St. Louis, Mrs. J. H. Alexander.

Employes of the Pickel Stone Co., of which he was president, attended the funeral in a body and donated an elegant floral tribute.

The funeral of Prof. William Deutsch, Monday, was largely attended. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. Dr. Leon Harrison at the family residence, 3346 Delmar boulevard. The active pall bearers were eight young men of the graduating class of the High School. The honorary pall bearers were: F. W. Biebinger, J. J. Worthelmer, Charles Michaels, Albert Drey, Adolph Drey, William Goldstein, Prof. Soldan, William Bryan (principal of the high school), John Singer, Jacob Wirth, H. Lindenbaum, F. E. The services at the grave were brief but impressive. Rev. L. L. Overman concluded with a prayer. The floral offerings were handsome.

Col. James Lindsay, the Civil War veteran, who died at his home, 3117½ Morgan street, was buried at Ironton, Mo., Tuesday. The remains were shipped from St. Louis Tuesday morning accompanied by a large party of relatives and friends. Col. Lindsay was 84 years old. During the war he was commander of the 68th Missouri Volunteers.

SUMMER REST FOR WOMEN.

Vacations to Be Passed on the Banks of the Meramec.

Tired working girls and delicate women of slender means are to be given summer outings if the proposed Summer Rest Association can be put on a satisfactory basis.

A meeting for that purpose will be held at St. Peter's Church, Lindell and Spring avenues, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. The Summer Rest Association will be organized at this meeting.

So far as the plans have been perfected they contemplate the amelioration of the condition of women and girls, by a vacation passed in the cool shades of the forest on the banks of the Meramec river. It is proposed that each woman shall have two weeks of this delightful change. A camp will be established on the Meramec about July 1. Its location will be a high bluff, and will be perfectly healthy. It commands a wide prospect of the most picturesque and beautiful scenery in this part of the country. It will be within easy reach of the city, and the beneficiaries will enjoy its pleasures at the smallest possible cost.

Ingalls' Terms on Watches $3 Down and $1 a week. Remember Ingalls has moved to the new five-story building, 1109 Olive street.

INDIGNANT PLAYERS.

MISS GALE AND MISS EARLE CLAIM TO HAVE BEEN VICTIMIZED.

"My Wife's Nerve" was not exhibited at the Klondike Park Theater Monday night. It was there Sunday night, but Manager Reis thought there was too much nerve and not enough histrionic ability displayed by Thomas A. Keene, one of the participants in the sketch, and the number was cut from the programme.

This was not done without several other little performances not down on the bills, in which two young women actresses of some attainment were made to appear in unenviable roles.

As a consequence there is an angry little woman at 2815 Stoddard street and another at a down-town hotel. Miss Ruth Gale is the one who lives on Stoddard street and Miss May Earle is the downtown young woman. Miss Gale is 16 years old, a perfect blonde, with a bright face and graceful figure. She made her debut in Chicago last season. Miss Earle was a member of the Imperial Stock Co. last winter, and is engaged at Uhrig's Cave for this summer.

Mr. Keene, who is the cause of all the trouble, is at liberty, has no partner and is not making much noise.

A few weeks ago Keene applied to Manager Reis for an engagement. He said he was a nephew of the late Thomas W. Keene, the tragedian, and was doing a sketch with Miss Gale. Manager Reis turned him over to Mr. Ekstromer, his press agent and right-hand man. Mr. Ekstromer did not know Keene but he did know Miss Gale. Keene showed the manuscript for his sketch and it was found to possess merit. The team was engaged.

MISS GALE.

Meantime Keene and Miss Gale were rehearsing their sketch and their first appearance was set for Sunday night. They had rehearsed but a few times before Miss Gale became dissatisfied. She thought he was not up to the requirements and told him their partnership must end at once.

Sunday evening Miss Gale and her father went down to Klondike Park. When they read the programme Miss Gale was astonished to learn that her name was on the bills with that of her discarded partner.

MISS EARLE.

She and her father hunted up Manager Reis and wanted to know what it meant. Then there were some explanations.

Mr. Keene did not assist in clearing up the matter. He had taken Miss Earle to the theater and introduced her to Mr. Ekstromer as Miss Gale. Miss Earle looked surprised and Mr. Ekstromer, who knew Miss Earle personally, looked at Keene, who then explained that Miss Gale was not able to play and that Miss Earle had taken her place. As Miss Earle was known to be competent, no objection was raised, and they did their sketch for one consecutive night. Then Mr. Keene was informed that his engagement was canceled. Mr. Ekstromer was careful to inform him that it was because of his inability to entertain and not through any fault of Miss Earle.

"Last week," says Miss Earle, "I had a part in 'Hamlet Revamped' at the Imperial. While I was on the stage Mr. Keene came and introduced himself. He said he was from Mr. McNeary of the Cave and wanted to know if I would work this week. He said he had a clever sketch and an engagement at the Klondike. As he had come, as I thought, from Mr. McNeary, and I saw I could make an extra week, I did not hesitate. I took the sketch and learned it by Sunday night.

"I thought it strange when he introduced me as Miss Gale, but did not pay much attention. Then I found that he had no wardrobe to speak of. Then I learned that he did not know how to 'make up.' I had to do that for him. He did not know his part and he was so dull he could not improvise. It was awful, but we managed to get through it somehow. It was a relief to get off the stage and to know that I would not be held for the entire week."

Miss Gale was as indignant as Miss Earle and more outspoken. She said Keene made big claims and she was much chagrined at being victimized by his smooth talk.

OUTING FOR POOR CHILDREN.

Industrial Farm Association Needs the Public's Help.

The Children's Industrial Farm, where the little tots of the city's crowded tenements are to be given a two-weeks' breathing spell, is rapidly getting into a state of reception, and the association will soon begin sending children down there.

The farm, which was offered for the purpose by C. H. English, is located near Sullivan, Mo., 60 miles from St. Louis on the Frisco Railroad. It is admirably adapted for this work of charity. It lies in the foothills of the Ozarks, one of the healthiest locations in the State.

Mr. English, who is superintending the work on the farm, reports that the supply of fruits and vegetables will be abundant.

The Financial Committee, consisting of Messrs. George A. Roth, Ernest Robyn, Jacob Furth, Roger P. Annan and Miss Sophia Barron, find that the money in hand is not adequate for the work contemplated. This being the first year a great amount of expense has to be incurred, and the public is appealed to on behalf of the children for aid. It is asked that subscriptions be sent to George A. Roth, treasurer, 421 South Seventh street.

It is intended to select the children who are to be sent to the farm through the charitable associations, police department and the teachers of the public schools.

As many as the farm can accommodate will be kept there all the time, and the place will be in operation all summer.

COL. ED BUTLER'S DOOM.

Garbage Contracts Slowly and Surely Slipping From His Grasp.

The Judy garbage bill, which the knowing ones around the City Hall declare was drawn up to suit Col. Ed Butler, will come up for passage in the House of Delegates at Tuesday evening's session. Friends of the Metropolitan Improvement Co., which is also strong in its moves to land the contract, declares that Col. Butler has already lost his fight, and that the Metropolitan company has already won.

The Metropolitan company was given the contract for street sweeping three months ago, soon after the company was organized. Richard Cole, who left the assistant superintendency of the Lindell lines to become the head of the Metropolitan company, gave it out at the time that the Metropolitan concern was going after all city contracts in sight, as he was sure he could underbid considerably all the holders of present contracts and still make a fair profit on the work. So far he has realized his claims, as he secured the street sweeping contract at a comparatively low figure, and according to the reports of the inspectors is doing the work fully up to the terms of the agreement.

It is denied that Col. Nathan Cole has any connection with the Metropolitan Company, or that he invested one penny in the capital stock, which placed the concern upon its feet. Richard Cole is his son, and all the hustling yet done by the Metropolitan Company has been done by him. Cooney Besch, a brother of City Register Besch, and a close friend of Julius Wurzburger, Theodore Kalbfell and of Mayor Ziegenheim and his son and secretary, Adam, is said to be "legging" for the Metropolitan Company, and if Col. Butler gets the garbage contract it will be the hardest tussle he has had since he went into politics.

ATTACKED BY THREE THUGS.

Black Highwayman Took Nelson's Money and Fractured His Skull.

He says he is the victim of three negro highwaymen, who assaulted and robbed him late Monday night and came near killing him.

Nelson is 36 years old, and lives at 1215 North High street. He is employed on the new building at Ninth and Pine streets. He says he was walking home from downtown Monday night about 10 o'clock. While on High street, between Morgan street and Franklin avenue, he met three negroes. Two of them took the outer edge of the pavement and one walked near the buildings. Nelson only glanced at the negroes and walked on. He heard the two men say something and turned around. As he did so the man on the inside struck him with some blunt instrument. Nelson fell as one dead. The footpads went through his pockets and took $2.

A policeman came along presently and found the unconscious Nelson. A patrol wagon was called and the injured man was remdved to the City Hospital. He will recover unless complications arise.

The negroes who made the assault have not been arrested. Nelson says he could identify the men if they are arrested. Nelson was not under the influence of liquor when he was received at the hospital, nor was there any evidence that he had been drinking.

Aroused Their Curiosity.

From Up-to-Date.

Hickey: Jann's book is having a great sale. All the women are crazy to read it.

Chaffee: Yes! I am glad to hear it. What's the title of it?

Hickey: "For Men Only."

Given Cause for Suspicion.

From the Washington Post.

There are people who will always suspect the House of Representatives of partisanship with a large "P" and its patriotism with a small one.

A mother pays a heavy price for the privilege of motherhood. The days of waiting and hoping and anxiety before the little one comes; the after years of care and solicitude, nursing the little life into physical completeness, guiding the little footsteps, the little hands and the gradually expanding mind—all this is part of the burden of motherhood. Yet an expectant mother is happy with it all in blissful anticipation of the dear, soft nestling little bit of humanity which is all her very own.

If the mother is physically weak or ailing, the burden of motherhood is far heavier than it ought to be. The greatest lightener of the burdens of maternity which science has ever discovered is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It was devised by an expert specialist for the express object of strengthening and healing the organs which make motherhood possible.

Taken before the baby comes, this wonderful "Prescription" relieves the ordeal of all danger and nearly all pain. It gives both mother and child a permanent increase of constitutional vigor.

The properties and uses of this wonderworking "Prescription" are more fully described in one chapter of Dr. Pierce's great thousand-page book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," which will be sent free, paper-bound, on receipt of twenty-one one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only, or cloth-bound for thirty-one stamps. Address World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. W. Robinson, of Springhill, Cumberland Co., Nova Scotia, writes: "I feel that I cannot say enough about your 'Favorite Prescription.' I was confined on the 8th of April, and I was sick about thirty minutes in all. I can truthfully say that your medicine worked wonders in my case. Although the expression was in the family I did not count it special [illegible]."
